To the student

Who this book is for?

This book is for students preparing for the Cambridge Preliminary English Test. It covers the grammar you need for the exam. You can use it with a general English language course for extra grammar practice or with practice tests as part of a revision programme. You can use it in class or for self-study.

What is in the units?

This book contains thirty units. Each unit is in four parts:

A Context listening This introduces the grammar of the unit in context. It helps you to understand the grammar more easily when you study section B. It also gives you useful listening practice. Play the recording and answer the questions. Then check your answers in the key before you read the grammar section.

B Grammar Read through this section before you do the exercises. For each grammar point there are explanations with examples. At the end of each section, there is a note to tell you which exercises in C practise this grammar. You can also check in this section again when you are doing the exercises.

C Grammar exercises Write your answers to each exercise and then check them in the Key.

D Exam practice Each unit has an exam task. These help you practise the different parts of the exam. The exam task is followed by a grammar focus task. This gives you extra practice in the grammar for that unit.

What is in the key?

The key contains:

- answers for all the exercises. Check your answers at the end of each exercise. The key tells you which part of the Grammar section you need to look at again if you have any problems.
- sample answers to help you check your work for exercises where you use your own ideas.
- sample answers for all the writing tasks in the exam practice section. Read these after you have written your own answer. Study the language used and the way the ideas are organised.

Recording scripts

There are scripts for the context listening for each unit, and for the exam practice listening tasks. Look at the script after you answer the questions. It is a good idea to play the recording again while you read the script.

Note on contractions

This book generally uses contractions, for example I'm for I am, wasn't for was not, because these are always used in speech and are common in written English. The full forms are used in formal written English.

A Context listening

- A1 Look at the things in the pictures. Which of the adjectives in the box can you use to describe them? You can use some more than once.

beautiful long short black grey white cotton leather silk wool

A long black B C D E

- A2 1 You are going to hear a conversation between Callum and Emily.
What are they doing? Which of the things in A1 do they talk about?

- A3 1 Listen to the first part of the recording again and answer these questions.

- | | |
|---|------------------------------|
| 1 Who is tired? Callum | 5 Who is bored? |
| 2 Who is excited? | 6 What is interesting? |
| 3 What is tiring? | 7 What is exciting? |
| 4 Who isn't really interested in clothes? | |

What is the difference between adjectives ending in -ed and -ing? Finish the sentences.

We use adjectives ending in to describe people.

We use adjectives ending in to describe things and people.

- A4 1 Listen to the second part of the recording again and fill in the gaps.

- 1 a lovely skirt
2 my boots
3 those trainers

Look at the adjectives you've written.

Which describe:

someone's opinion?

size or shape?

the material?

What kind of adjectives usually go first?

What kind of adjectives usually go last?

B Grammar

B1 Adjective position

Adjectives usually go before nouns:

I bought a white T-shirt. (not a T-shirt white)

⚠ Adjectives don't change. (~~not some whites T-shirts~~)

Adjectives go after some verbs (e.g. be, get, become, look, seem, appear, sound, taste, smell, feel):

They're comfortable and they'll look good with the skirt.

The material felt really soft.

⚠ A few adjectives (e.g. afraid, alone, asleep, awake) cannot go before a noun:

The cat was asleep on the bed. (not The asleep cat was on the bed.)

→C1

B2 Adjective order

When there are two or more adjectives, they go in this order:

	opinion	size/age/shape	colour	materials
a	lovely	short	black	wool	skirt
a	beautiful		grey	leather	bag
my	favourite	long	black		boots
some		old	blue		jeans

We put and

◆ between two colour adjectives: a black and white belt

◆ between two adjectives after a verb: Clothes shops are always boring and crowded.

⚠ We don't say ~~my favourite and long and black boots~~

→C2

B3 Adjectives ending in -ing and -ed

Some adjectives have two forms: -ing and -ed. The adjectives have different meanings:

-ing adjectives describe people and things	-ed adjectives describe feelings
Clothes shops are boring.	I'm bored.
That's surprising news.	We're surprised.
Computer shops are interesting.	You're not interested in clothes.

→C3

B4 Nouns used as adjectives

When we put two nouns together, the first one works like an adjective, e.g. a birthday party: birthday tells us what kind of party it is.

a birthday party, a clothes shop, a computer game, a language school, a student card and sandy beach and the sea is clear and warm. The town has lots of old beautiful buildings. My parents like going to the galleries art but I get boring so I go to the shops. You can buy cheaps clothes there.

→C4, C5

I hope we go to my restaurant favourite.

D Exam practice

Reading Part 2

The people below all want to hire bikes for short trips.

On the next page there are eight cycle trips in a tourist information brochure.

Decide which trip would be the most suitable for the following people.

For questions 1–5, mark the correct letter (A–H).

David is an experienced cyclist. He has a couple of days to spend on his hobby of bird-watching. He has a small tent and wants to get away from the crowds.

Ian and his daughters Kim and Kylie would like an easy bike ride with time to play on the beach and have a swim in the sea. They have a picnic with them.

Nadine and Lee are interested in old buildings. They don't mind a few hills, but don't want to go to the mountains. They'd like to go to a restaurant for lunch.

Elizabeth enjoys cycling to keep fit, but she must be at home in the evening. She enjoys drawing and taking photographs of unusual natural scenery.

Zoe and Bea don't want to cycle very far and they can't start early in the morning. They're interested in art and would like to have lunch somewhere near the sea.

RECOMMENDED CYCLE RIDES FROM AILSEA

- A Seaview Gallery (less than an hour's ride along the coast road) shows paintings and photographs by local artists in attractive rooms on the cliffs. Open 2pm–5pm. There's a teashop next door which serves delicious lunches and teas.
- C Picnic at Ailmonth Castle after a two-hour cycle ride along the coast. For five hundred years it has stood on the cliffs, looking down on the dangerous black rocks and waves far below. Now it's a beautiful old ruin. Remember your camera, because you'll want to photograph it at sunset.
- E This pleasant flat route uses the pretty little lanes which follow the coast to an excellent sandy beach, less than an hour away. There's plenty of room for ball games and it's very safe to swim. A pleasant day out for anyone who can ride a bike.
- G Perfect for active young cyclists who enjoy being alone in beautiful scenery. Leave in the afternoon to catch the wonderful sunset from high in the mountains. Camping is permitted for up to two nights. See wild birds and animals among the rocks and trees.
- B An excellent destination for families is Ailsham, where there is a campsite. The route includes only one tiny hill and the views of woods and farmland are lovely. Stop for a picnic under the trees. When you arrive, enjoy a swim in the river, then spend a night in one of the tents provided.
- D If you enjoy really brilliant scenery and don't mind starting early, go to the mountains for the day. You'll want to bring your camera with you for the amazing rocks, quiet pools and exciting waterfalls. The return journey is all downhill, so you can get back quickly in the afternoon.
- F A good day's bike ride through attractive countryside away from the coast brings you to Otterbourne Hall, a historic house open to the public. You can enjoy a surprisingly cheap but delicious lunch in the cosy restaurant, and then you'll be pleased to discover that there are no steep hills on the return route.
- H Only half an hour's ride away at Fendwich, is a popular new restaurant with amazing views across the beach. Eat a delicious lunch and watch the birds on the cliffs, then look round the souvenir shops before cycling back along the coast. An excellent trip if you don't have a whole day available.

Grammar focus task

Put the two adjectives in each sentence into the correct order. Check your answers by finding them in the text.

- 1 He told us about the black/dangerous snakes in the jungle. dangerous black
- 2 There was a beautiful/old tree in the middle of the field.
- 3 We followed a flat/pleasant path beside the river.
- 4 The model wore a little/pretty hat which matched her coat.
- 5 The old couple employed two active/young students to tidy their garden.
- 6 We went to a concert by a new/popular band.

A Context listening

- A1 Josh lives in Manchester. The rest of his family live in London. What are they all doing on Friday morning?

- A2 You are going to hear three conversations Josh has later on Friday.

Conversation 1: Where is Josh? Why is he going home?
Conversation 2: Where is Josh? Why is his sister unhappy?
Conversation 3: Where is Josh? Where is his sister? Why?

- A3 Listen to conversation 1 again and fill in the gaps with adverbs.

1 I cycle very 3 I know I'm late for everything.

2 Oh, but ride won't you? 4 You've arranged everything

How do we usually make an adverb from an adjective? What are the adjectives for these four adverbs?

- A4 Listen to conversation 2 again and fill in the gaps.

1 It's going to be boring. 3 I wrapped it well.

2 We have to work hard. 4 It's noisy here.

The words you've written are adverbs. How do they change the meaning of the words which follow?

- A5 Listen to conversation 3 again. Put the adverbs and adverb phrases on the right into the correct gaps in the sentences. Stop the recording when you need to.

1 Well I can't come

2 They stop

3 The traffic's moving

4 She's waiting

5 She goes outside our house there round the corner patiently now always after school very slowly at her friend's house often to the station

Look at the adverbs and adverb phrases you've written. For each one decide if it tells you how often?, how?, where?, or when?

B Grammar

B1 Using adverbs

Adjectives tell us about a noun:

He's a careful cyclist.

Adverbs tell us about a verb:

He cycles carefully.

Adverbs say how often, where, how much, how and when:

	how often?	verb	how?	where?	when?
I	often	come		here	on Friday lunchtimes.
She		is waiting	patiently	at her friend's house.

Adverbs can be one word or a phrase:

I'm getting on my bike now.

I'm outside my office.

⚠ Some verbs are followed by adjectives not adverbs. (See Unit 1 Grammar B1.):

You sound miserable. That's unfair. I feel happy.

B2 Forming adverbs

Adjective + -ly → adverb perfect + -ly → perfectly usual + -ly → usually

Spelling rules:

adjective ending	adverb
-y — noisy	y + -ily noisily
-le comfortable	e + -y comfortably
-e safe	keep -e + -ly safely

⚠ Some words look like adverbs because they end -ly but they are adjectives (e.g. friendly, likely, lonely, lovely, silly, ugly):

He was a friendly man. He told me a silly story.

We don't make adverbs from these adjectives. We use a phrase:

He spoke in a friendly way.

→ C1

B3 Irregular adverbs

Well is the adverb for good:

He's a good boss. He treats us well.

⚠ Well is also an adjective (= not ill):

I had stomach-ache last week but I'm well this week.

Some adjectives and adverbs look the same (e.g. fast, early, hard, late, daily/weekly/monthly):

adjective	adverb
It was a fast train.	He drove fast .
He had an early breakfast.	He always eats breakfast early .
It's hard work.	They work hard . (not They work hardly.) *
There's a late bus on Fridays.	We arrived late . (not We arrived lately.) **

* The adverb hardly = 'almost not'.  The adverb lately = 'recently'.

→C2

B4 Adverb position

Most adverbs usually go after the verb. If there are several adverbs, they go in this order:

How? Where? When?

Josh cycled quickly to the station at one o'clock.

When? adverbs can sometimes go at the beginning of the sentence.

At one o'clock Josh cycled quickly to the station.

How often? adverbs usually go:

- before a one-word verb: I never see you.
- before the second part of a two-part verb: I've never forgotten you.
- BUT after am/is/are/was/were: I'm often late.

The adverbs already, also, just, still, even and only usually go in the same place as how often? adverbs:

I'm still at the station. I've just arrived.

Adverbs do not go between the verb and its object:

I posted your present on Wednesday. (~~not I posted on Wednesday your present.~~)

I wrapped the present carefully. (~~not I wrapped carefully the present.~~)

▲ We say He speaks Spanish very well. (~~not He speaks very well Spanish.~~)

Too and as well = also but they usually go at the end of the sentence:

I sent you a card as well / too.

→C3

B5 Modifying adverbs and adjectives

Some adverbs change the meaning of adjectives or other adverbs:

extremely really very rather fairly quite
 strongest less strong

She'll be really pleased to see you.

I cycle very quickly.

→C4 and C5

C Grammar exercises

- C1 Look at the adjectives in brackets. For each gap decide whether to make the adjective into an adverb. Write the adverb or the adjective.

- A5 Look at A3 and A4. Which exercise is about comparing two things?
Which exercise is about comparing more than two things?

B Grammar

B1 Comparative and superlative adjectives

Comparing two people or things:

Hits! is smaller than Buzz.

We make comparative and superlative adjectives like this:

Comparing more than two people or things:

Buzz is the most expensive (magazine).

Hits! is the least expensive (magazine).

adjective	comparative	superlative one syllable:
long	+ -er → longer	+ -est → the longest ending in -e nice	+ -r → nicer	+ -st → the nicest ending in one vowel + -b, -d, -g, -n, -p or -t big	double the last letter + -er → bigger	double the last letter + -est → the biggest two syllables:
famous	+ more → more famous	+ the most → the most famous ending in -y dirty	-y and + -ier → dirtier	-y and + -iest → the dirtiest three syllables:
popular	+ more → more popular	+ the most → the most popular

⚠ Some adjectives are irregular:

good → better → the best, bad → worse → the worst, far → further → the furthest

His latest song is better than his last one. He's the best singer in the band.

This magazine is worse than that one. It's the worst magazine I've ever read.

We also use (not) as... as and less ... than to compare things:

Buzz isn't as popular as Hits! or Buzz is less popular than Hits! (= Hits! is more popular than Buzz.)

When two things are the same, we say:

Buzz is as popular as Hits!

► more	Hits! is more colourful than Buzz.
◄ less	Buzz isn't as/so colourful as Hits! / Buzz is less colourful than Hits!
= the same	Buzz is as colourful as Hits!
▲ the most	Smash is the most interesting magazine.
▼ the least	Buzz is the least interesting magazine.

→C1 and C2

B2 Comparative and superlative adverbs

Sometimes we compare how we do something:

You can read Hits! more easily than Buzz.

The Smash journalists write better than some national journalists.

Adverbs ending in -ly form comparatives and superlatives like this:

adverb	comparative	superlative
slowly	more slowly	the most slowly
beautifully	more beautifully	the most beautifully
easily	more easily	the most easily

Other adverbs form comparatives and superlatives like short adjectives:

hard → harder → hardest

My sister works harder than I do but Alex works the hardest.

Some adverbs are irregular:

well → better → the best, badly → worse → the worst

I play the guitar well. Rob plays the guitar better than me. Rob plays lots of instruments but he plays the guitar the best.

⚠ We don't use superlative adverbs very often.

→C3

B3 Comparing nouns

We use more/the most to compare both countable and uncountable nouns:

Smash has more reviews than Hits!

Hits! has the most adverts.

Smash contains the most information.

We use fewer / the fewest to compare countable nouns:

There are fewer adverts in Smash than in Hits!

Hits! has the fewest posters.

We use less / the least to compare uncountable nouns:

There's less rubbish in Smash than in Buzz.

Smash contains the least rubbish.

B1 Present simple

+	I/you/we/they + verb he/she/it + verb + -s	I live in Durrington. She lives in Durrington.
-	I/you/we/they don't + verb he/she/it doesn't + verb	He doesn't live in Durrington.
?	Do I/you/we/they + verb Does he/she/it + verb	Do you live in Durrington?

▲ We use do to make questions and negatives for all verbs except to be.

+	I am ('m) you/we/they are ('re) he/she/it is ('s) I am not ('m not)	I'm here.
-	you/we/they are not (aren't) he/she/it is not (isn't) Am I ...?	They aren't here.
?	Are you/we/they ...? Is he/she/it ...?	Is she here?

We use the present simple:

- ◆ for habits and things which happen regularly:
I go there most weekends.
especially with always, never, usually, often, and sometimes:
The tour usually lasts about one hour.
- ◆ for permanent situations:
I live in Durrington.
We don't see animals in the city centre.
- ◆ for general truths:
Many tourists enjoy coach tours.

-C1, C2

(We also use the present simple for the future, see Unit 12.)

B2 Present continuous

+	I am ('m) + -ing you/we/they are ('re) + -ing he/she/it is ('s) + -ing I am not ('m not) + -ing	We're visiting Durrington this week.
-	you/we/they are not (aren't) + -ing he/she/it is not (isn't) + -ing Am I + -ing ...?	I'm not visiting Durrington this week.
?	Are you/we/they + -ing ...? Is he/she/it + -ing ...?	Are you visiting Durrington this week?

We use the present continuous

- ◆ for the present moment:
The bus is now turning into Queens Road.
What are you doing? I'm listening to you.
 - ◆ for temporary situations:
This week our tours are taking a little longer.
An international company is using that building for a conference. (= They don't use it all the time.)
- (We also use the present continuous for the future, see Unit 12.)

-C3

B3 State verbs

Some verbs almost always use simple tenses not continuous tenses:

Most people prefer the new theatre. (~~not Most people are preferring the new theatre.~~)

I like chocolate ice cream. (~~not I'm liking chocolate ice cream.~~)

Here are some important state verbs:

belong, hate, have/have got (= possess, see below), hear, know, like, love, mean, prefer, realise, recognise, remember, see, understand, want, wish

→ C4

B4 Have got and have

+	I/you/we/they have got ('ve got) he/she/it has got ('s got)	I've got a new car.
-	I/you/we/they have not got (haven't got) he/she/it has not got (hasn't got)	She hasn't got a new car.

?	Do I/you/we/they have ...? Does he/she/it have ...?	Do they have a new car?

We use have got or have in the present simple (not the present continuous)

- for things which we possess:

We've got a new entertainment centre. = We have a new entertainment centre.

Has everyone got a map? = Does everyone have a map?

- for describing things and people:

It's got a cinema and a concert hall.

It doesn't have enough seats.

Has he got long dark hair?

- for illnesses:

I've got a sore throat.

▲ We don't normally use have got in the past and the future (see Units 5 and 12).

We use have (not have got) in many common expressions (have a bath, have a holiday etc.) to talk about actions. When it means do, eat, take, enjoy, etc. we can use simple or continuous tenses:

I hope you're having a good time.

You can have lunch in one of the cafés.

B Grammar

B1 Present perfect

We form the present perfect with has/have + past participle.

The past participle

- ♦ for regular verbs (want → wanted) and a few irregular verbs (make → made) is the same as the past simple.
- ♦ for most irregular verbs is different from the past simple (break → broke, broken; go → went, gone). (See p.viii.)

+	I/you/we/they have + past participle	They've arrived.
	he/she/it has + past participle
-	I/you/we/they have not (haven't) + past participle	He hasn't arrived.
	he/she/it has not (hasn't) + past participle
?	Have I/you/we/they + past participle ...?	Has it arrived?
	Has he/she/it + past participle ...?

→C1

B2 Present perfect and past simple (for past simple forms see Unit 5)

We use the present perfect not the past simple

- ♦ for past events when the exact time is not important, but the result is interesting now:
They have moved to another town. (= They don't live here now.)
She's passed her driving test. (= She can drive to work.)
The bus has arrived. (= We can get onto it.)

- ♦ for a period of time beginning in the past and continuing to now (often with since and for):

You have worked very hard.

some time in the past → now

You've worked very hard.

I've worked there for two months.

I've worked there since April. (= I still work there now.)

We use the past simple not the present perfect

- ♦ for past events at a particular time:

They moved in July.

She passed her driving test yesterday.

The bus arrived at six.

- ♦ for a period of time beginning and ending in the past (sometimes with for):

You worked very hard last year.

last year → now

You worked very hard.

She worked at the cinema for ten months.

(= But she doesn't work there now.)

- ♦ not with still and yet and in questions with yet:

I still haven't dried my hair. (= it's wet)

I haven't put the balloons up yet. (= I want to – they're on the floor)

Have the guests arrived yet?

- ▲ Still goes before the verb and yet goes after it.

- ♦ for questions asking how long until now:

How long have you known Annie?

- ♦ for actions and events started in the past which are finished, often with ago:

I dried my hair half an hour ago. (= it was wet but it's dry now)

I didn't put the balloons up. (= because I decided not to have a party)

- ♦ for questions asking when:

When did you meet?

→C2

B3 Other uses of the present perfect

We use the present perfect

- ♦ with just for an event a short time before now:

I've just met her. (= a few minutes ago)

- ♦ with adverbs already, before, ever and never, meaning 'before now' (see also Unit 2):

We've already met.

Has he ever met her?

- ♦ with superlatives (see Unit 3):

You make the best pizza I've ever eaten.

- ♦ after the expressions the first/last etc. time:

That's the second time you've asked me.

B1 Past perfect

We form the past perfect with had + past participle. (See notes on past participles in Unit 6 and the table of irregular verbs on p. viii.)

+	I/you/he/she/it/we/they had + past participle	We'd eaten lunch.
-	I/you/he/she/it/we/they had not (hadn't) + past participle	I hadn't eaten lunch.
?	Had I/you/he/she/it/we/they + past participle ...?	Had they eaten lunch?

→C1

B2 Past perfect and past simple

We use the past perfect

- ♦ to talk about something that happened before a past event:

Last week I visited my home city. It had changed a lot.

I walked into the restaurant and I saw all my old friends. Stefan had invited them to join us.

- ♦ in sentences that have when + past simple, to show that one event happened before the other:

When I arrived, Stefan had finished his work. =	1 He finished work
	2 (later) I arrived.

The two actions are separate.

Compare:

When I arrived, Stefan stopped work. =	I arrived and he stopped work at that time.
--	---

The two actions are probably connected.

B3 Past perfect not past simple

We always use the past perfect not the past simple with already, ever, never and just when we mean before a time in the past:

They'd just started the year I left. (not ~~They just started~~ the year I left.)

I had already decided to become an engineer. (not ~~I already decided~~)

I'd never seen anything like it. (not ~~I never saw~~)

▲ Already, ever, never and just go between the auxiliary and the main verb.

-C2

B4 used to

+ I/you/he/she/it/we/they used to + verb

I used to live in the city.

- I/you/he/she/it/we/they did not (didn't) use to + verb

They didn't use to live in the city.

? Did I/you/he/she/it/we/they use to + verb...?

Did she use to live in the city?

We make negatives and questions with did like a regular verb in the past simple (see Unit 5).

▲ There is no present tense of used to (not ~~I use to~~ etc.). We use the present simple (see Unit 4).

I meet my friends on Saturday evenings. not ~~I use to meet my friends on Saturday evenings~~

We use the verb used to to talk about the past when we want to emphasise that things are different now:

It used to be the factory area. (= It isn't the factory area now.)

THE PAST

It used to be the factory area.

NOW

The factories were knocked down.

It's a park.

I used to watch the engineers. (= I don't watch them now.)

We used to see a lot of big lorries in the city. (= We don't see them now.)

There didn't use to be a sports centre in the city. (= There is now.)

Did there use to be less traffic? (= There's a lot of traffic now, but I want to know if it has increased.)

My trousers are new. (not My trouser is new.)

These shorts are dirty. (not This short is dirty.)

Other things we wear can be singular. They are made of two parts which can be separate: shoe/shoes, sock/socks, earring/earrings.

▲ The word clothes is never singular: I bought some new clothes. (not I bought a new clothe.)

+	a/some	He's got a bag / some bags.	He's got some luggage.
-	any	He hasn't got any bags.	He hasn't got any luggage.
?	any	Has he got any bags?	Has he got any luggage?

We often use some in questions which are requests or offers:

Shall I buy some food?

No means 'not any'.

He's got no bags. = He hasn't got any bags. He's got no luggage. = He hasn't got any luggage.

+	somebody (someone)	something	somewhere
-	not anybody (not anyone) / nobody (no-one)	not anything / nothing	not anywhere / nowhere
?	anybody (anyone)	anything	anywhere

We'll find somewhere quiet. Have I forgotten anything? I haven't found anything.

⚠ not anything = nothing; not anybody = nobody; not anywhere = nowhere:

There isn't anybody here. / There's nobody here. (not ~~There isn't nobody here.~~)

⚠ Everybody, everyone, everything and everywhere have a plural meaning but they are followed by a singular verb:

C2 Read this short story and underline the correct words.

Last month my husband and I went to a wedding in the north of the country. We needed to stop for a night on the journey. We didn't have 1 anywhere/nowhere to stay, so I rang the tourist information office to find a bed and breakfast. I asked for 2 somewhere/everywhere near the main road and was given the address of a small inn.

When we arrived it was almost dark. The inn was an old-fashioned place with a garden that 3 anyone/no-one had tidied for a long time. The front door was locked. We soon began to feel that 4 nobody/somebody didn't want visitors. When we rang the bell 5 anybody/nobody answered, but we heard a noise inside the building. We called out but 6 nothing/everything happened. After several minutes we decided to look for 7 anywhere/somewhere else to stay. We found a modern hotel in the nearest village. When we asked about the old inn, 8 everybody/somebody in the hotel was really surprised. 9 Anybody/Nobody knew it.

'It's on the main road, just before this village,' we explained.

At last the hotel owner asked her father, a very old man. 'There was an inn many years ago, but it burned down,' he said.

'10 No-one/Anyone goes there now.'

After the wedding, we drove past the place again. There wasn't 11 nothing/anything there. It seemed like a dream. But we know we saw 12 something/anything. We just don't know what it was.

Reading Part 3

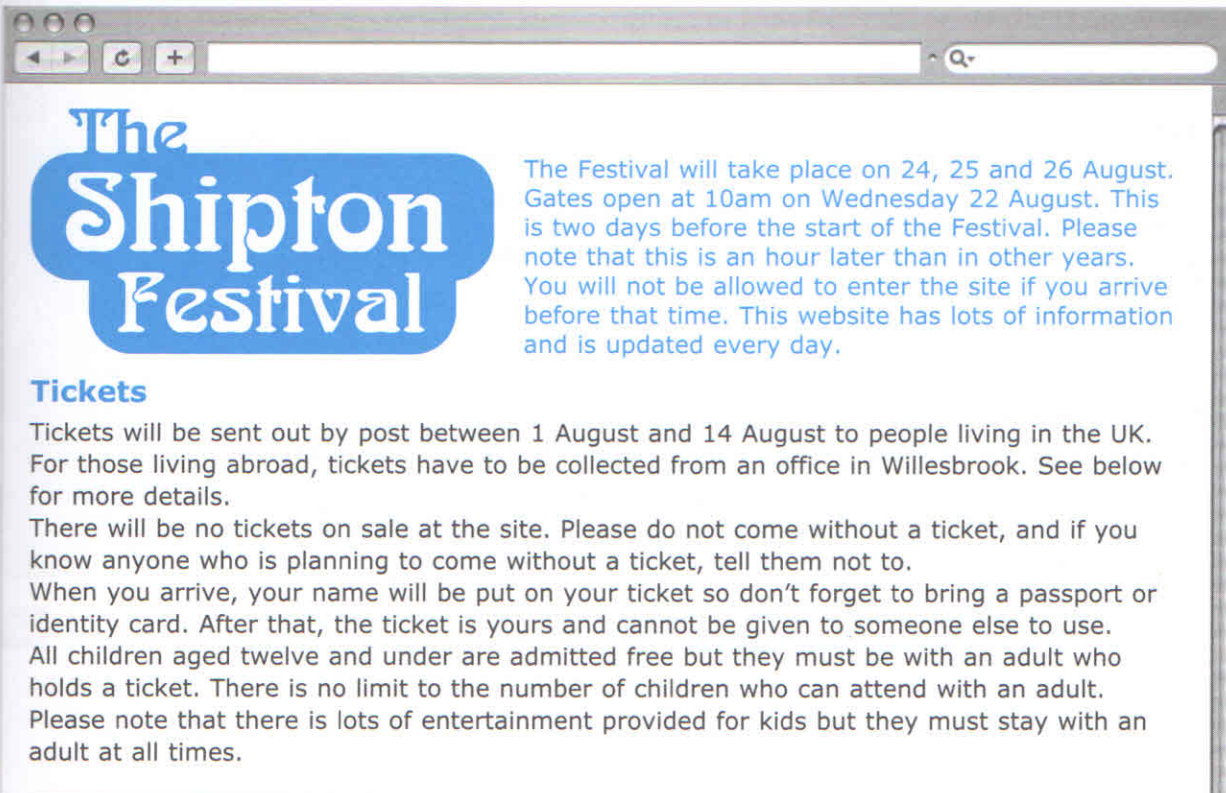

Look at the sentences below about a music festival.

Read the text to decide if each sentence is correct or incorrect.

If it is correct, mark A.

If it is incorrect, mark B.

- 1 If you arrive at the same time as last year, the gates will be closed.
- 2 Nobody will be able to buy a ticket on arrival.
- 3 Everyone who has bought a ticket will receive it in the post by 14 August.
- 4 You need to prove who you are when you get to the festival.
- 5 One adult with a ticket can take several children into the festival.
- 6 Arrange to meet friends near the gates if you have their tickets.
- 7 You will receive a souvenir programme when you show your ticket.
- 8 You should bring enough food to eat over the weekend.
- 9 You can find signs in Shipton to tell you the way to the festival.
- 10 There is a small charge for the buses which go direct to the festival site.

The Shipton Festival

The Festival will take place on 24, 25 and 26 August. Gates open at 10am on Wednesday 22 August. This is two days before the start of the Festival. Please note that this is an hour later than in other years. You will not be allowed to enter the site if you arrive before that time. This website has lots of information and is updated every day.

Tickets

Tickets will be sent out by post between 1 August and 14 August to people living in the UK. For those living abroad, tickets have to be collected from an office in Willesbrook. See below for more details.

There will be no tickets on sale at the site. Please do not come without a ticket, and if you know anyone who is planning to come without a ticket, tell them not to.

When you arrive, your name will be put on your ticket so don't forget to bring a passport or identity card. After that, the ticket is yours and cannot be given to someone else to use.

All children aged twelve and under are admitted free but they must be with an adult who holds a ticket. There is no limit to the number of children who can attend with an adult.

Please note that there is lots of entertainment provided for kids but they must stay with an adult at all times.

If you have bought tickets for friends, give them to them before they leave for the Festival. It is impossible to meet anyone at the gates because of the crowds. If you have to meet up, do it at least five miles away from the Festival site.

What's on?

Click on Events below for information. Everyone who has a ticket will be given a free souvenir programme. You can buy extra programmes at Information Points.

What shall I bring?

Don't bring much luggage. You need a tent and don't forget suncream and a torch. You can eat really well and cheaply on the site, so it really isn't necessary to carry food.

Where is the site?

The village of Shipton is three kilometres from the site. There are signs from Willesbrook which is the nearest town. Please follow these signs which take you around Shipton. No traffic should go through Shipton itself which has very narrow streets.

How do I get there?

If possible, leave your car at home because there'll be a lot of traffic. There are coaches and trains to Willesbrook. From there you can take a Festival bus. The price of the bus fare is included in your Festival ticket so only those who can show a Festival ticket will be allowed onto these buses.

B Grammar

B1 This, that, these and those

We can use this/these and that/those as adjectives:

This T shirt suits me. (I'm wearing it.)

That T shirt suits you. (You're wearing it, not me.)

or as pronouns:

This is a good concert. (I'm at the concert now)

That was a good concert. (I'm not at the concert now.)

When we don't want to repeat a countable noun, we use one:

Which pictures do you like? Those/These ones. The ones by Van Gogh.

We often use the one(s) with an adjective:

B2 All, most, some, no and none

Things/people in general	Things/people in a particular group
All + noun: All teenagers watch TV. Most/some + noun: Most people have a TV in their bedroom. →C2

B3 Both/either/neither

We use both/neither/either when we talk about two things. We can use them

- with a noun or pronoun:

Both lights are nice. or Both (of) the lights/them are nice. (plural verb)

Either colour is OK. (singular noun and verb) or

Either of the colours/them is/are OK. (singular or plural verb)

Neither colour looks good. (singular noun and verb) or Neither of the colours/them looks/look good... (singular or plural verb)

- or alone:

Which colour would you prefer? Neither (of them). / Either (of them).

Which picture do you like? Both (of them).

▲ All and both can go with a verb:

They're all mad.

We've both finished.

(See Unit 30 for both ... and, either ... or.)

-C3

B4 Each and every

Each and every often have the same meaning:

Every/each star has a light in it.

but sometimes they have different meanings.

Each = separate things or people in a group:

We tried each colour on the wall. (= The colours were different.)

Every = all the people or things in a group together:

Every room in the hotel has a TV. (= The rooms are the same.)

▲ We use a singular verb after each and every.

We use each/every + singular noun:

Every/each room has a TV.

We use each not every with of + noun or pronoun:

Each of the people / Each of them had a different job. (~~not Every of the people / Every of them had a different job.~~)

▲ Every and all often have a similar meaning:

Every wall is blue. (singular verb)

All the walls are blue. (plural verb)

But when we talk about time, they have different meanings:

They go to a different place every week. (= regularly)

They spent all week in my room. (= one complete week)

B Grammar

B1 Possessive 's/of

We use 's with people and animals:

The boy's bedroom was very untidy. (not ~~the bedroom of the boy~~)

The dog's teeth are very sharp.

and with time expressions:

I missed last night's programme.

but we usually use of instead of 's with things:

What's the price of that holiday? (not ~~the holiday's price~~)

Sometimes we don't say the second noun when it is a home or a business:

I stayed at Sally's (= Sally's flat)

He works in the newsagent's. (= the newsagent's shop)

The apostrophe s ('s) goes in a different place for singular and plural nouns:

my cousin's friends (= one cousin), my cousins' friends (= more than one cousin)

B2 Personal pronouns, possessive pronouns and possessive determiners

Subject pronouns:	I/you/he/she/it/we/they	Possessive pronouns:	mine/yours/his/hers/ours/theirs
Object pronouns:	me/you/him/her/it/us/them	Possessive determiners:	my/your/his/her/its/our/their

We use I, you, he etc. for the subject of the verb and we use me, you, him etc. for the object of the verb:

She gave him her key.

He invited them to a party.

We use possessive determiners (my, your, his etc.) before a noun:

I went with my friends.

▲ His means 'of a boy or a man' and her means 'of a girl or a woman':

He sees his girlfriend every night.

We always use my, your etc. with parts of the body and clothes.

Tony broke his leg. (not ~~Tony broke the leg.~~)

They changed their shoes when they came in.

We use possessive pronouns (mine, yours etc.) without a noun:

Give that key to her. It's not yours. (= it's not your key)

This bicycle is mine.
This is my bicycle.
This bicycle belongs to me.

*This bicycle is the boy's.
This is the boy's bicycle.
This bicycle belongs to the boy.*

We can say my friends or some friends of mine (yours/his/hers/ours/theirs etc.) (~~not some friends of me~~)

We use own to emphasise that something belongs to someone:

He doesn't have his own flat. (= a flat just for him)

→ C1, C2

B3 Reflexive pronouns

I → myself, you (singular) → yourself, he → himself, she → herself, it → itself, we → ourselves, you (plural) → yourselves they → themselves

We use myself, yourself etc.

- when the subject and the object are the same person/thing:
Tim hurt himself when he fell off his bike. (= Tim (subject and object) was hurt)
but Sam cried when Tim hurt him. (= Sam (object) was hurt)
- with enjoy (your)self, behave (your)self, help (your)self:
Help yourself to some food.
Sally really enjoyed herself.

By (your)self means alone. We can also say on (your) own:
Sally wanted to be by herself. or on her own.*

→ C3

B4 There and it + to be

We use there + to be to say somebody/something exists, especially when we talk about them for the first time:

There's a party in Cara's flat.*

There were lots of people in the flat.*

Is there a newsagent's near here?*

▲ We say There is before a singular noun and There are before a plural noun.

▲ We can't use it is in the same way as there is. We use it is to talk about something we have already discussed:

There's a newsagent in this street. It's on the corner.*

(not ~~It's a newsagent in this street. It's on the corner.~~)

We can use it + to be to talk about time, weather and distance:

It's sunny here and it's nine o'clock in the evening.*

It's ten kilometres from here to the city centre.*

- 8 what someone decides at that moment?

B Grammar

To talk about the future, we use will, going to, the present simple and the present continuous.

B1 Will

+	I/you/he/she/it/we/they will ('ll) + verb	I'll pay.
-	I/you/he/she/we/it/they will not (won't) + verb	She won't pay
?	Will I/you/he/she/it/we/they + verb?	Will you pay?

We use will

- ♦ to say what we know or believe about the future (often with maybe, I think, I expect and I hope):
I'll be 17 next week. (= he knows this)
Everybody will do shopping by computer in a few years' time. (= he believes this)
I expect I'll be asleep all day.
- ♦ when the speaker decides something at the moment he/she speaks.
I'll have a coffee with you. (= she decides now)

→ C1

B2 Going to

+	am/is/are going to + verb	We're going to see the film.
-	am/is/are not going to + verb	I'm not going to see the film.
?	am/is/are ... going to + verb?	Are you going to see the film?

We use going to

- ♦ when we can see that something is certain to happen:
The plane is going to land.
- ♦ to talk about plans:
We're going to see the new James Bond film. (= we decided earlier)
- ▲ We can often use going to or will to talk about the future:
I'm going to be 17 next week. = I'll be 17 next week.

We use will more often when we write, but going to when we speak.

→ C2, C3

B3 Present continuous

We use the present continuous (see Unit 4)

- ♦ for plans already made when we know or guess the time:
What are you doing tonight? (= what plans have you got?)
I'm meeting a designer at 2.30. (= he has an appointment)
- ▲ We can often use the present continuous or going to to talk about plans:
We're spending the weekend at the seaside. = We're going to spend the weekend at the seaside.

→ C4

B4 Present simple

We use the present simple (see Unit 4) for timetables (trains, planes etc.) and for programmes (films, classes etc.):

My flight leaves Rome at 11 pm on Saturday and it arrives in London at 1 am.
The film starts at nine o'clock.

B Grammar

B1 Modal verbs: general notes

Modal verbs (e.g. can, could, may, might, must, shall, should, will, would) are special auxiliaries which add to the meaning of other verbs. (See also Units 14 and 15.) They follow these rules:

+ Modal verbs never change (we don't add -s or -ed or -ing to them): He might help.

Another verb follows the modal verb, e.g. can + help → I can help.

⚠ We don't put to before the second verb: I can help (not I can to help).

- not follows the modal verb: That will not (or won't) be necessary.

? The modal verb goes first: Could you sweep the floor?

⚠ Ought is like other modal verbs but we put to after it:

I/You/He/We/They ought to help. (not They ought help.)

→C1

⚠ need can be a modal verb and a normal verb. (See Unit 14B3.)

B2 Asking someone to do something

Less polite	More polite	Answer +	Answer -
Can/Will you help me?	Could/Would you help me?	Yes, of course. / Certainly. (etc.)	I'm afraid not. / Sorry. (etc.)

⚠ We never use May you? to ask someone to do something. (not May you help me?)

→C2

B3 Making suggestions and offers

To make a suggestion, we can say:

Shall I/we move some tables outside?

I can make one of my special recipes if you like.

If we are less sure of what we are suggesting, we say:

We could serve more interesting food perhaps.

We can also use these expressions:

Why don't I/we move some tables outside?

Let's move some tables outside.

How about / What about moving some tables outside?

⚠ We say moving not move after How about / What about ...

When we offer to do something, we usually use shall:

Shall I put the advert back in the window? (not Will I put...?)

→C3

B4 Asking for, giving and refusing permission

When we give permission or talk about having permission, we use can:

Less polite	More polite	Answer +	Answer -
Can I sit here?	Could/May I sit here?	Yes, of course. / Certainly. (etc.)	I'm afraid not. / Sorry. (etc.)

You can borrow my camera.

We can finish work early tomorrow.

When we refuse permission, we use can't:

You can't use the phone.

→C4, C5

A Context listening

A1 This is a scene from a television programme. What kind of programme is it?

A2 14 You are going to hear one of the girls in the picture telling her mother about the TV programme. Were you right?

A3 14 Listen again. Rosie talks about all the things below. Tick the correct columns in the table.

	We have to	We mustn't	We don't have to	We needn't look after the animals	✓ be good at acting use mobile phones take modern equipment wear a microphone take our own clothes cook the meals stay there

A4 Look at the recording script on page 188 and check your answers. Underline each sentence as you find it.

Example: We have to look after the animals and things like that.

Does mustn't mean the same as don't have to?

Does needn't mean the same as don't have to?

B2 Obligation – mustn't and don't have to

Although must and have to have similar meanings (see B1), mustn't ≠ don't have to.

mustn't = don't do it (a rule):

We mustn't use mobile phones.

I mustn't use a diary.

We can also say It's not allowed:

We're not allowed to use mobile phones.

don't have to = it's not necessary:

We don't have to take our own clothes.

B3 Necessity – need need = it is necessary

Need is a normal verb:

I need to buy some bread. (~~not I need buy some bread.~~)

Do you need to take any food with you?

In the negative, need can be ♦ either a modal verb:

You needn't worry.

♦ or a normal verb:

You don't need to worry.

Needn't and don't need to = it isn't necessary = don't have to:

You needn't worry = You don't need to worry. = You don't have to worry.

In the past we say:

+ They needed to look after the animals. (= It was necessary to look after the animals.)

- They didn't need to work hard. (= It wasn't necessary to work hard.)

? Did they need to grow their own food? (= Was it necessary to grow their own food?)

→ C3, C4

B4 Orders and advice

We use must, should, ought to and could to give advice.

strong advice

less strong advice

You must check the details.

You should / ought to take a diary.

You could take some books.

In the negative, we use shouldn't or ought not to:

You shouldn't sign the letter.

You ought not to go there.

⚠ We don't use couldn't to give advice. (~~not You couldn't sign the letter.~~)

We use should and ought to when we are talking about the right thing to do:

I should learn to cook.

We ought to send her a postcard.

I shouldn't worry so much.

I ought not to eat that cake.

B Grammar

B1 Certainty and possibility

When we're sure something is true, we use must:

It must be a pen because that looks like ink.

They must be at home because the light is on.

When we think something is possible, we use might/could/may:

It could be a butterfly because those are its wings.

He might be her brother but I'm not sure.

When we're sure something isn't true, we use can't:

It can't be a butterfly because it hasn't got a body. (~~not It mustn't be a butterfly.~~)

That can't be Sue's car because hers is at the garage.

▲ We also use might/could/may when we are uncertain about the future:

I may go to Greece next month. (= it's possible but I'm not certain)

My football team might win the cup.

→C1, C2

B2 Ability (I can ..., I'm able to ..., I could ...)

I can = I know how to do something or it is possible for me to do something.

In the present we use can (a modal verb) or be able to (not a modal verb).

+ The children can swim but they can't dive yet.

I can help you on Monday but not on Tuesday.

- I can't decide what it is.

be able to is less common:

My grandfather is able to cook his own meals but he isn't able to walk to the shops.

I'm not able to answer that question.

In the past we use could or was able to:

He could / was able to walk when he was one.

The athletes couldn't/weren't able to train because the weather was bad.

For all other forms, we use be able to:

Future: Team A will be able to come back next week.

Present perfect: Team A hasn't been able to answer the question yet.

Infinitive: Team A hopes to be able to come back next week.

We also use can and could for permission, offers and requests. (See Unit 13 Modals 1.) →C3, C4

B Grammar

B1 Yes/No questions

When we make questions which can be answered with Yes or No

- ◆ we put an auxiliary or modal verb before its subject:

(For modals, see Units 13, 14 and 15.)

We're (We are) going clubbing tonight.

You've (You have) been to that club.

We must go to London.

→ Are we going clubbing tonight?

→ Have you been to that club?

→ Must we go to London?

- ◆ we use do(es) or did to make questions in the present simple or past simple. (See Units 4 and 5.)

You like Manchester.

Manchester has fantastic clubs.

They went clubbing.

→ Do you like Manchester?

→ Does Manchester have fantastic clubs?

(~~not Does Manchester has fantastic clubs?~~)

→ Did they go clubbing?

- ◆ we put the verb to be before its subject:

She's (She is) in Manchester today.

→ Is she in Manchester today?

→C1

B2 Short answers

We answer a Yes/No question using the same auxiliary or modal verb as in the question.

If the answer is Yes:

Are you going to London? Yes, I am.

Do you like Manchester? Yes, I do.

Has he been clubbing? Yes, he has.

Could they ask questions? Yes, they could.

If the answer is No:

Are you going to London? No, I'm not.

Did you sing well? No, I didn't.

→C2

B3 Question words

Who	What	Where	Why	How	Which	How often	How long
How far	How many (+ countable noun)		How much (+ uncountable noun)
What (+ noun)	Which (+ noun)	Whose (+ noun)

Wh... questions begin with the words in the box above.

We make most Wh... questions in the same way as Yes/No questions.

Della might marry Dean.

→ Who might Della marry?

(Answer: Dean.)

I wrote a love song.

→ What did you write?

(Answer: A love song.)

She can't sing because she's tired.

→ Why can't she sing?

(Answer: Because she's tired.)

- They'll leave at two o'clock.* → What time will they leave?
(Answer: At two o'clock.)
- I've known Dean for three years.* → How long have you known Dean?
(Answer: (For) three years.)
- I like this song.* → Which song do you like?
(Answer: This song or This one.)
- I like Dean's music best.* → Whose music do you like best?
(Answer: Dean's.)
- She earned a million pounds.* → How much money did she earn?
(Answer: A million pounds.)
- ▲ Remember money is uncountable. (See Unit 8.)

▲ Remember the difference between these questions with like:
 What does Della like? (= What does Della enjoy?) She likes dancing.
 What does Della look like? (= describe her) She's very tall.
 What's (is) Della like? (= tell me about her) She's clever and very tall.

→ C3, C4, C6

B4 Questions about the subject of the verb

When we make a question about the subject of the verb we do not change the word order. We don't use do in the present simple or did in the past simple.

Compare these questions about the subject and object of a sentence:

Matt enjoyed the concert.

Who enjoyed the concert? (Answer: Matt.) not Who did enjoy the concert?

What did Matt enjoy? (Answer: The concert.) not What enjoyed Matt?

Which CDs cost £5? (Answer: These CDs.) not Which CDs do cost £5?

▲ In a subject question, who has a singular verb
Who is going to the concert? (not Who are going? although we know there must be more than one!)
 unless there are two or more people in the question:

Who are your favourite singers?

→ C4, C6

B5 Agreeing with statements

We use So to agree with positive statements and Neither or Nor to agree with negative statements. We put the verb before the subject:

- ♦ with the verb to be:

I'm looking forward to that concert.

So am I.

We're going to Leeds.

So am I.

- ♦ with an auxiliary or modal verb:

She's been to Manchester.

So have I.

I don't know this song.

Neither do I.

He can't dance.

Nor can I.

- ♦ with the present or past simple, using do or did:

They enjoyed the concert.

So did we.

He likes this song.

So do I.

We didn't hear it.

Neither did I.

B Grammar

B1 At, on and in

We use at with

- ♦ a point of time, seasonal holidays:

at the beginning/end of the month, at six o'clock, at sunrise, at lunchtime, at Christmas

We also use at in some expressions:

at the weekend, at first (= at the beginning), at last (= finally), at present / at the moment (= now)

We use on with

- ♦ dates, days of the week, special days:

on 8th July (note that we say on the eighth of July), on Sunday, on my birthday, on the day of the race

We use in with

- ♦ parts of the day, months, seasons, years, decades, centuries:

in the afternoon/morning/evening (but at night), in July, in (the) summer, in 1953, in the 90s, in the twenty-first century

▲ We do not use a preposition before today, tomorrow, yesterday, this/next/last:

Next month there's the Cup Final. (not In next month there's the Cup Final.)

→C1

▲ Be careful with these expressions.

in the end ≠ at the end

in the end = the final result but at the end = the last event:

I looked everywhere for my shoe. In the end I found it under my bed.

The film was very exciting with a long car chase at the end.

on time ≠ in time

on time = at the correct time but in time = early enough:

If the train's on time, I'll be home at six.

If we leave now, we'll be home in time to see the news.

B2 By and until/till

We use by to show something happens before or at a time:

Can you clean the car by four o'clock? (= Will the car be clean before or at four o'clock?)

We use until/till to show something happens up to, but not after, a time:

Don't wait until/till July to get your tickets. (= Buy your tickets before July.)

They played until/till it got dark. (= They stopped when it got dark.)

→C2

B3 In, during and for

In and during often mean the same when we talk about a period of time:

There will be some good sport in/during the next few months.

But when we talk about an activity or an event we use during not in:

It rained during the match. (= the players were playing tennis when the rain started)

For tells us how long: I run every day for one or two hours.

In tells us how soon: In ten days there's one of my favourite events.

→C3, C4

Hi Tabitha

I hope you're all ready for our trip to Glasgow. Remember to bring a jacket because Scotland can be very rainy, even 1 in summer and it may be cold 2 night. But I'm sure we'll have a good time. My brother was there 3 2004. I spoke to him 4 last week and he says it's a great place. Our plane arrives there 5 lunchtime so we'll have plenty of time to find somewhere to stay. Then we can go out 6 the evening and go to some art galleries 7 Friday. I've booked tickets for a guided tour 8 the weekend. But we'll have time for shopping, don't worry. You can phone me 9 tomorrow if you want to ask me anything, I'll be at home 10 about two, but I have to go out after that. That's it, really. I'll meet you at the airport 11 quarter past eleven 12 Thursday. I know the flight's not 13 12.30 but we have to check in 14 11.30 at the latest so please make sure you're there 15 time!

Hi Rick. A few questions, if you have time?

Hi Chuck. Ask anything.

I'll be in classes 1 on weekdays. Will I have time for shopping?

Of course! You can go shopping 2 weekends. Most shops are open all day 3 Saturdays, but they don't open 4 ten or eleven o'clock 5 Sundays.

What about getting home if I stay out late 6 the evening?

Do buses run 7 the night in your town?

There are some buses 8 the middle of the evening, but not after that, so if you're not home 9 ten, you'll have to get a taxi. Or cycle.

I don't really want to cycle in England 10 winter. Perhaps I could hire a car.

I don't think you can hire a car 11 your twenty-first birthday actually! But don't worry. You'll be here 12 six weeks and you'll soon get used to everything. Anyway, I'll make sure you have a good time.

That's great. Thanks for the help. See you. Bye.

Read the text and questions below.

For each question, mark the correct letter A, B, C or D.

Portmeirion

Last week I visited the village of Portmeirion in north Wales. During my childhood, I'd enjoyed holidays in the area, which is one of the most beautiful parts of Britain. However, I'd never been to the village and I had always wanted to. I visited the village in the autumn, which was a good choice as it was less crowded than in the summer. I'd read about its history and knew that the buildings were from many different styles and periods but hadn't realised how colourful they would be.

Portmeirion didn't exist in the nineteenth century. The first building didn't go up until 1926 and the last in 1976. It was built by Sir Clough Williams. From the age of 5, he dreamed of building his own village. He wanted to show that it was possible to build a village in a lovely area and not spoil it. In 1919 he sailed around the British coast for several months looking for a suitable spot. He visited 22 possible sites before he found the place of his dreams at last, just 8 km away from his family home.

Sir Clough had to build cheaply and quickly and I discovered that some of the buildings even have painted windows which were cheaper than putting in real windows! Some were built so that they look grander than they are. The windows in the bell tower, for example, are smaller as you go up the tower, so it seems taller from the ground than it really is.

On my second day there I stood on the balcony of my hotel at dawn. As I looked over the Austrian-style houses and Italian piazzas with the wonderful view of the Welsh coastline in the background, I realised what Clough Williams was trying to do.

- 1 What is the writer trying to do?
 - A give information about where to stay in Portmeirion
 - B compare Portmeirion to other similar villages
 - C describe a visit to Portmeirion
 - D suggest what improvements could be made to Portmeirion

- 2 What surprised the writer about the village?
 - A the mixture of buildings
 - B the beauty of the area
 - C the number of visitors
 - D the different colours used

- 3 What was the aim of Clough Williams in 1919?
- A to build a village without damaging the natural surroundings
 B to make an existing village more beautiful
 C to build a village as close to his home as possible
 D to visit as many villages as possible before building his own
- 4 What did the writer find out about some of the buildings?
- A They cost more to build than expected.
 B They aren't as big as they look.
 C There was a mistake in their design.
 D Some of the windows need replacing.
- 5 Which of these postcards did the writer send from Portmeirion?

A It's my first visit to the area, and I hadn't realised how lovely this coast is. We should have a holiday together in Portmeirion.

B I discovered Portmeirion by chance. I've really enjoyed finding out about its history and looking at the unusual buildings.

C I hadn't been to Portmeirion before but I'm pleased I came. I now realise what a special place it is.

D Portmeirion village is getting bigger all the time. I don't think they should add any more new buildings.

They looked up the word in the dictionary. (= They found the word in the dictionary.)

Last night I had dinner with some friends and set off around eleven o'clock to walk home. Passing an office block, I saw a moving light through a window so I phoned the police station. I was put through to a detective and told him what I'd seen. He promised to come immediately, but he was held up for three-quarters of an hour by a traffic jam. All the city centre roads were blocked by an accident. While I was waiting for him, a man turned up in a car. He asked me why I was there. I explained I'd seen a light, and he told me he was a policeman on his way home. We went to the back of the building and found a broken window. The man got into the building through the window. I said I could help him but he turned down my offer, so I waited for the detective. At last he arrived with a colleague and I told him about the man in the car. He made a note of the number and phoned the police station. Some more police came. One took away the car and the others watched the building. When the man and his friend tried to leave, the detectives arrested them. I'd planned a quiet walk, but it turned into an adventure!

- 1 Which verbs are followed by the to infinitive?
- 2 Which verbs are followed by an -ing form?
- 3 Which verb is in both lists?
- 4 Which verbs are not in either list?

B Grammar

B1 We often use one verb followed by another. The first verb decides the form of the second verb:

first verb	second verb	second verb form
I want	to make	a necklace. to infinitive
I hate	wearing	heavy jewellery. -ing form

The second verb is usually either the to infinitive or the -ing form.

B2 Verbs + to infinitive

Some verbs are followed by the to infinitive:

(can't) afford	agree	aim	appear	arrange	choose	decide	demand deserve	expect	fail	hope	learn	manage	offer	plan prepare	pretend	promise	refuse	seem	(can't) wait	wish

I can't afford to buy a lot of materials.

Do you hope to sell it?

For the negative we put not before to:

They agreed not to leave.

Some verbs are followed by the to infinitive and always have an object:

advise	encourage	force	invite	order	persuade	remind	teach	tell	warn
--------	-----------	-------	--------	-------	----------	--------	-------	------	------

I'm going to teach you to make necklaces.

I advise students to make several things.

Some verbs are followed by the to infinitive and sometimes have an object:

ask	expect	help	intend	want
would like	would love	would hate	would prefer

We expect to be late. (= we will probably be late) or We expect Tom to be late. (= he will probably be late)

We would like to stay longer. or We would like them to stay longer.

▲ Remember the difference between would like and like:

Would you like to play tennis? (= an invitation to play)

Do you like playing tennis? (= asking about your opinion) (see B5)

→ C1

B3 make and let

Make and let are followed by the infinitive without to. They always have an object:

I'll let you decide.

She made me use lots of heavy stones.

→C2

B4 Verbs + -ing

Some verbs are followed by -ing:

avoid carry on* consider delay dislike enjoy feel like* finish give up* imagine involve keep keep on* (not) mind miss practise put off* recommend suggest

Avoid making heavy jewellery.

I suggest practising with simple things.

For the negative we put not before the -ing form:

Can you imagine not having a car nowadays?

(*See Unit 19 B5 for more information about phrasal verbs.)

→C3

B5 Verbs followed by the to infinitive or -ing

These verbs are usually followed by -ing but sometimes by the to infinitive:

begin continue like love prefer hate start

He continued talking loudly. or He continued to talk loudly.

I prefer using a dictionary. or I prefer to use a dictionary.

Some verbs are followed by the to infinitive or -ing with a different meaning:

forget remember try stop

Verb + to infinitive	Verb + -ing remember to Remember to check the weight. (= an action which will be necessary)	remember -ing I remember making some earrings. (= a memory of an action in the past) forget to Don't forget to phone me. (= an action which will be necessary)	forget -ing I'll never forget meeting her. (= a memory of an action in the past)
try to Try to walk quickly. (= if you can)	try -ing Try taking more exercise. (= an experiment)
stop to She stopped to rest . (= because she wanted to rest)	stop -ing He stopped shouting at us. (= he finished doing it)

B Grammar

B1 Conditional sentences

Conditional sentences have two parts, a condition and a result:

condition result

If you work here, your evenings will be free.

result condition

Your evenings will be free if you work here.

▲ When the if part comes second, there is no comma.

The condition part usually starts with if. Different kinds of conditional sentences use different tenses. (See B2, B3, and Unit 23 B2.)

▲ When does not mean the same as if:

When I have £2000, I'll go to South America.

(= I'll certainly have £2000 one day and then I'll go to South America.)

If I have £2000, I'll go to South America.

(= Perhaps I'll have £2000 one day and perhaps I'll go to South America.)

→C1

B2 Zero conditional

We use this for things which are generally true:

if + present present present present if + present

If customers have to wait they get annoyed. = Customers get annoyed if they have to wait.

→C2

B3 First conditional

We use this to talk about possible situations:

if + present future future if + present

If I save £2000, I'll go to South America. = I'll go to South America if I save £2000.

(not If I'll save...)

If I don't save £2000, I'll go round Europe. = I'll go round Europe if I don't save £2000.

(not If I won't save...)

If I save £1000, I won't go to South America. = I won't go to South America if I save £1000.

(not If I won't save...)

→C3

B4 Unless

Unless means 'if not'. We use it with zero and first conditionals:

Unless I phone you tomorrow, you'll start at nine o'clock.

= If I don't phone you tomorrow you'll start at nine o'clock.

The shop loses customers if the assistants aren't friendly.

= The shop loses customers unless the assistants are friendly.

Reading Part 3

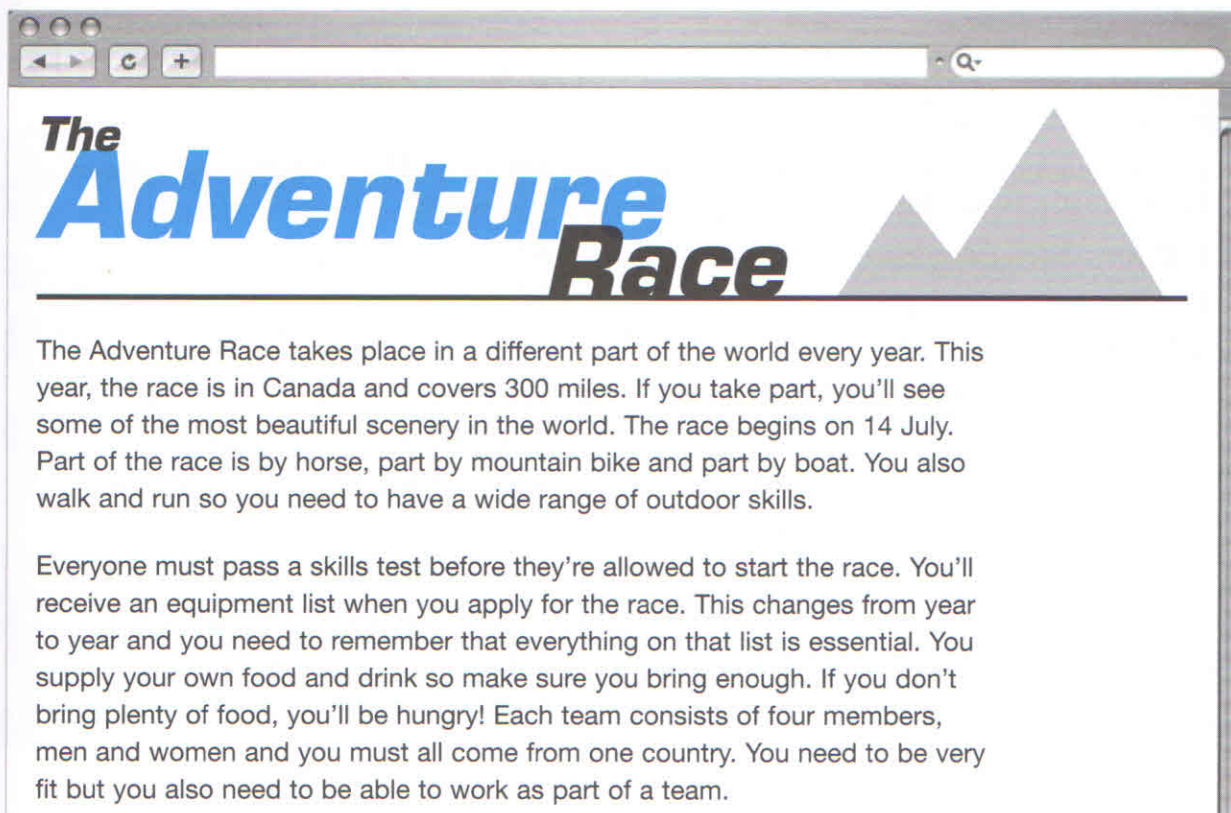

Look at the sentences about a race in Canada called The Adventure Race.

Read the text to decide if each sentence is correct or incorrect.

If it is correct, mark A.

If it is incorrect, mark B.

- 1 The Adventure Race takes place in different countries at the same time.
- 2 Unless you succeed in a special test, you won't be able to do the race.
- 3 You should bring all the equipment on the list you're sent.
- 4 Everyone in your team should have the same nationality.
- 5 Teams need to have their routes planned at least one day before the race begins.
- 6 There's a limit on the time allowed between each checkpoint.
- 7 It won't matter if you miss one checkpoint.
- 8 If someone in your team can't continue, you'll have to stop too.
- 9 All four members of a team must cross the finishing line at the same time.
- 10 You'll receive £500 to spend on whatever you choose if your team wins.

The screenshot shows a web browser window with a title bar containing three window control buttons and a search bar with a magnifying glass icon. The main content area features the title 'The Adventure Race' in a large, stylized font, with 'The' in black and 'Adventure Race' in blue. To the right of the title is a graphic of three stylized mountain peaks. Below the title, there is a horizontal line, followed by a paragraph of text describing the race. The text states that the race takes place in a different part of the world every year, is held in Canada, covers 300 miles, and begins on 14 July. It also mentions that the race involves horse, mountain bike, and boat, and that participants need a wide range of outdoor skills. A second paragraph explains that everyone must pass a skills test before starting, and that participants receive an equipment list that changes yearly. It also notes that participants must supply their own food and drink, bring plenty of food, and that each team consists of four members (men and women) from one country who must be very fit and able to work as a team.

The Adventure Race

The Adventure Race takes place in a different part of the world every year. This year, the race is in Canada and covers 300 miles. If you take part, you'll see some of the most beautiful scenery in the world. The race begins on 14 July. Part of the race is by horse, part by mountain bike and part by boat. You also walk and run so you need to have a wide range of outdoor skills.

Everyone must pass a skills test before they're allowed to start the race. You'll receive an equipment list when you apply for the race. This changes from year to year and you need to remember that everything on that list is essential. You supply your own food and drink so make sure you bring enough. If you don't bring plenty of food, you'll be hungry! Each team consists of four members, men and women and you must all come from one country. You need to be very fit but you also need to be able to work as part of a team.

The starting and finishing points of the race remain secret to all those taking part until approximately 24 hours before the start. Teams can then choose their route as long as they pass certain checkpoints. The race takes between six and twelve days to complete. You won't be allowed to continue if you fail to reach each checkpoint by a certain time. Each team has a 'passport' which will be stamped at each checkpoint with the date and time of arrival. If one person is injured or decides not to carry on, the rest of the team won't be allowed to either.

The first team to cross the finishing line are the winners. You can't win as an individual, only as one member of the team you start with. There must be no more than 150 metres between the first and the last member of the team reaching the finishing line. All four members receive a plane ticket worth £500 to the place of their choice anywhere in the world. The second team to cross the line receive climbing equipment.

The race usually attracts the attention of the local press so you should be willing to be photographed and possibly interviewed. This is all good publicity for next year! If you're interested, we'll send you an application form as soon as we hear from you. Write to the address at the bottom of this page or look at our website on www.adventurerace.com.

B Grammar

B1 Conditional sentences

Conditional sentences have two parts, a condition and a result:

condition

result

If I didn't have a lot of work, my evenings would be free.

The condition part usually starts with if. Different kinds of conditional sentences use different tenses. (See B2, and Unit 22.)

B2 Second conditional

We use this for imaginary situations, which we believe are nearly or completely impossible:

if + past

would + infinitive

If I had time, I'd (would) go to more concerts. (But I haven't got time, so I can't go to more concerts.)

If she liked me, she'd (would) phone me. (But I believe she doesn't like me, so she probably won't phone me.)

If I didn't have an exam next week, I would go clubbing at the weekend. (But I have an exam next week, so I won't go clubbing this weekend.)

or we can put the condition after the result:

would + infinitive

if + past

I'd go somewhere lively if I didn't have any work to do. (But I have work to do so I won't go somewhere lively!)

I wouldn't be late for work if I had a car. (But I don't have a car so I'm often late for work!)

Would I fail the exam next week if I went clubbing at the weekend? (I probably won't go clubbing, but I'm thinking about the possible result.)

▲ The verb in the if part of the sentence is in the past tense although its meaning is present or future.

▲ We often use were instead of was after If I/he/she/it:

If he weren't (wasn't) a songwriter he'd be a fashion designer.

If I were (was) you, I would write to him.

→ C1, C2

B3 I wish

We use I wish + past for a wish about a present situation:

I wish I had more free time. (but I don't)

I wish I wasn't so busy. (but I am)

I wish I could speak Spanish. (but I can't)

▲ We use a past tense, although we are talking about now.

▲ We often use were instead of was after I/he/she/it:

I wish I were (was) clever. (but I'm not)

→ C3, C4, C5

Read the text and questions below.

For each question, mark the correct letter – A, B, C or D.

Visit to the Arctic Circle

I was the only person to get off the train at 4pm at Abisko in the Arctic Circle. The train disappeared into the night. I was alone, in the dark, with the temperature at minus 20, as cold as I'd expected it. At that point I thought about giving up this trip and wished I were on my way back home but the train had gone and I could see a hotel ahead.

The girl at reception gave me the key to a 'cabin' as the rest of the hotel was closed. I went back outside. I could see by the light from the hotel and found the cabin easily. My hands were frozen as I turned the key in the lock and pushed the door which refused to move. I pushed it harder. I was thinking of breaking a window to prevent myself from freezing to death when I took my hand off the handle and the door opened gently towards me.

After recovering in the warmth of the cabin, which was actually very comfortable, I went outside again. I realised I wasn't completely alone as I saw car headlights on the road nearby. It was a clear evening full of red, green and blue light in the frozen air. It was so beautiful I wanted to write a poem about it but I had no paper. I could only spend ten minutes outside at a time so I went in and out of the cabin to watch the amazing Northern Lights. I only spent three days there. I was sorry I'd booked a ticket on the train to continue my journey so soon.

B Grammar

B1 The passive

I deliver the letters in the morning.

I empty the rubbish bins once a week.

The rubbish bins are emptied once a week.

The letters are delivered in the morning.

Active

We use the correct form of to be + past participle to make the passive. (See Unit 6 and p.viii for past participles.)

Passive

Active	Passive
I/you/we/they catch	→ I am caught /You/we/they are caught
He/she/it catches	→ He/she/it is caught
I/you/he/she/it/we/they will catch	→ I/you/he/she/it/we/they will be caught
I/you/he/she/it/we/they caught to catch	→ I/you/he/she/it/we/they were caught to be caught

We often use the passive when

- ♦ we don't know who or what does something:
My car was stolen.
The spaceship is damaged.
- ♦ it is obvious or unimportant who does something:
My train was cancelled.
The aliens are waiting to be rescued.
Was anyone hurt in the accident?*
Letters aren't delivered on bank holidays.

If the person who did something is important we use by + person:

Active

Passive

Aliens caught Norman. = Norman was caught by aliens.

—C1, C2, C3, C4

B2 To have something done

When other people do a job for us, we can say we have something done. We do not usually say who did it.

We use the correct form of have + noun + past participle:

She has the spaceship repaired. (= The garage repairs the spaceship.)

I had my hair coloured. (= The hairdresser coloured my hair.)

We'll have a new house designed. (= An architect will design a new house for us.)

Reading Part 4

Read the text and questions below.

For each question, mark the correct letter A, B, C or D.

My problem

My name's Jade, I'm fifteen and an only child living with my parents in Porchester. I've always got on very well with them and I've always felt happy at home.

Last autumn my cousin Bettina came to live our house. She's nineteen, and very pretty and funny. She's staying with us while she's a student at the university in Porchester. At first, I was very pleased to have another teenager in our house, because most of my friends don't live near me, but recently my feelings have changed.

I have lots of homework because I'm studying for school exams, but I have to clean my room and help with the washing-up. Bettina doesn't have exams this year so she doesn't have to work so hard. She has more money than me. She earns a bit because my dad helped her get a part-time job, and because it's at the local leisure centre she doesn't pay the full price for tickets to see films there or go bowling with her friends. And although she doesn't pay rent to my parents they don't make her help in the house like I have to.

When I mentioned this to my parents they reminded me that we have to be kind to Bettina because her dad hasn't been well for a long time. I agree with that but there is a problem: I know Bettina tells lies to my parents. Last week, she told my dad that she was going to the library but she went to meet her boyfriend. Two days ago she asked my mum to lend her some money. She said she needed to buy some books, but I think she spent it all on CDs.

I asked my parents if they knew what she had done, but they didn't believe me. They said I was jealous of her and refused to listen to me.

I'd like to know what I should do now.

- 1 What is Jade trying to do?
 - A describe her older cousin
 - B explain why she has problems with school work
 - C say why she doesn't like being an only child
 - D explain a problem she has at home
- 2 When Bettina arrived, how did Jade feel?
 - A She was jealous of Bettina's good looks.
 - B She hoped Bettina could help her with homework.
 - C She was happy to have her to stay.
 - D She wanted Bettina to meet her friends.

3 What does the writer say about Bettina's job?

- A She earns a lot of money.
- B She gets cheap tickets because of it.
- C She hasn't told Jade's parents about it.
- D She works when she should be studying.

4 Jade's parents asked her to remember

- A that Bettina's family has problems.
- B that she isn't as old as Bettina.
- C that Bettina has many responsibilities.
- D that Jade's father is ill.

5 Which of these things did Jade say to her parents?

A

I want to get a job so that I can earn money like Bettina.

B

It's not fair that I have to help in the house and Bettina doesn't.

C

Bettina's father should pay you more for her accommodation.

D

Bettina gets cheap cinema tickets her friends but not for me.

B Grammar

B1 Relative clauses

We can give information about someone, something or somewhere by adding a relative clause.
We use a relative pronoun: who, which, whose, where or that:

This is the sitting room ^{relative pronoun} which belongs to the Baxter family.
relative clause

B2 Which, who and that

We use which to join two ideas about a thing or things:

We use who to join two ideas about a person or people:

We have different presenters. They're experts.

We have different presenters who are experts.

not We have different presenters ~~who~~ ~~they~~ are experts. (they = presenters)

We can use that instead of who or which:

We have different presenters that are experts.

→C1

B3 No relative pronoun

Sometimes the verb in the relative clause has a new subject:

You can see the café which Mark owns. (the café is not the subject of owns)

We don't need to use who or that in the sentence above:

You can see the café Mark owns.

but we need who or that when there is no new subject.

Compare:

They choose the headline (which/that) the newsreader will read first. (new subject: the newsreader)

They choose the stories which will be in the news. (no new subject)

Here's a footballer (who) you'll recognise. (new subject: you)

Here's a footballer who played for England. (no new subject)

→C2

B4 Where and whose

We use where to join two ideas about a place. It means at/in which. It cannot be left out or replaced by that:

Here's the desk where the newsreader sits. (not ~~where the newsreader sits at~~)

(= Here's the desk. The newsreader sits at that desk.)

We use whose with a noun to mean his/her/their/its. It cannot be left out or replaced by that:

Jack's the man whose old boots were sold. (= Jack's the man. + His old boots were sold.)

→C3, C4

B Grammar

Linking words connect different ideas.

B1 Because (of), as and since

We say because (of), as or since when we give a reason for something. Because is more common than as and since.

action	linking word	reason
She said nothing	because as since	she didn't recognise him.

We use because of when the reason is a noun, not a sentence:

Claudia knew Damian because of her job.

She didn't recognise him because of the beard. (not ~~because of~~ he was wearing a beard.)

▲ When we answer a question beginning Why ..., we use Because (not as or since).

Why was he there? Because he was waiting for his brother.

(not ~~As/since~~ he was waiting for his brother.)

→ C1

B2 So and therefore

We say so and therefore when we give the result of something.

So is usually in the middle of a sentence.

Therefore is at the beginning of a new sentence and is mainly used in writing.

action	linking word	result
Orville was making a terrible noise	so	the receptionist called the police.
Orville was making a terrible noise.	Therefore	the receptionist called the police.

Compare the meaning of these sentences:

He didn't believe her so he followed her.

= He followed her as/since/because he didn't believe her.

The teachers were on strike. Therefore the school was closed.

= The school was closed as/since/because the teachers were on strike.

→ C2, C3

B3 To and in order to

We say to or in order to when we explain why we do something (our purpose).

(In order) to is always followed by the infinitive.

action	linking word	purpose
She was going to an evening class	to	learn Greek.
He followed her	in order to	see where she went.

(In order) to can answer a question beginning with Why ... ?

Why did he follow her? To see where she went.

→ C4, C5 and C6

Wickton City Football Club

Tony Connor has been Wickton City's youth officer for 18 months. At the age of 16 he went from Wickton to Ipswich Town to train to be a professional footballer. This had always been his ambition but he had to return home because he was injured and that's where he's stayed. He was then a football coach for over 7 years. Now, as youth officer, he has three parts to his job - to run the mini-soccer centre on a Saturday morning, to teach football to local teenagers, and to help look after the football club's Academy for players who are training in order to play in the first team. He says 'Everything I do is important but I spend longer teaching local teenagers than I do on the other parts of the job.'

He wants teenagers to get football qualifications, therefore he's developed a programme to help them. 'These 'Football Skills' courses are for young people who have no qualifications. We obviously can't give them jobs at the end but, by doing our courses, I hope they'll find a job in the future and a few of them might actually work for a football club. There's no charge for most of the courses we run. We usually charge a small fee for the equipment but we sometimes provide that free as well.'

On Saturday mornings, the mini-soccer centre offers opportunities for local children at the club. 'There are no competitions. They don't win or lose. They come in order to have a chance to train at the football club.'

In addition, for the first time in the club's history, there are now three children's teams. 'Since last year, we've got under-twelves, under-fourteens, under-sixteens, and also the Academy teams, which contain the best players in the town.'

As well as forming football stars of the future, the club is also trying to encourage younger fans. 'We hope to attract more of the young kids here, to make them feel part of the club, in order to save them travelling miles to Manchester United or Liverpool every week.'

Tony says the club went through a bad period. 'A few years ago we nearly lost our team altogether as the club had very little money so we're making sure that doesn't happen again. For about fifteen years, the club couldn't get well-known players since the money wasn't available. Therefore a lot of local players have played in the first team over the last two years and that's helped the level of football in the area. So that's a good thing.'

B Grammar

Linking words connect different ideas.

B1 But, although and though

But and although (or though) contrast two ideas and are followed by noun + verb:

idea A	linking word	idea B
The hotel was excellent	but	the food was boring.
The hotel was excellent	although/though	the food was boring.
linking word	idea B	idea A
Although/though	the food was boring,	the hotel was excellent.

⚠ We can't use although (or though) and but in the same sentence:

not ~~Although the food was boring, but the hotel was excellent.~~

Although (or though) is stronger than but.

But is always in the middle of a sentence. Although (or though) is sometimes at the beginning of a sentence and sometimes in the middle.

→C1

B2 In spite of / despite

In spite of / despite + noun contrasts two ideas.

idea A	linking word	idea B
The hotel was excellent	in spite of/despite	the boring food.
linking word	idea B	idea A
In spite of/despite	the boring food,	the hotel was excellent.

⚠ We can't use noun + verb after in spite of / despite:

not ~~The hotel was excellent in spite of the food was boring.~~

B3 Both ... and, ... and ... both, either ... or

We use both ... and and either ... or to connect two people or things:

Both my wife and I work very hard.

Either the bookings manager or her secretary made a mistake.

We often use noun and noun + both + verb:

Mr Smart and Mrs Smart both work very hard.

We often use either ... or to connect two verbs:

Either phone me or send me an email.

You can either eat out or have dinner in your hotel.

⚠ Both goes after the verb to be and auxiliary verbs:

My wife and I were both looking forward to a rest.

→C2

B4 When, until, before, after, as soon as, while

We use when, until, before, after, as soon as and while to connect two actions in time:

When we arrived in Florida, we hired a car.

We waited with our friends until their bus arrived.

⚠ When we talk about the future, we use a present tense after these words:

We'll hire a car, when we arrive in Florida. (not will arrive)

→C3, C4, C5

Emily: Come on Callum. Let's try this shop now.
 Callum: Oh, not another clothes shop. I'm tired.
 Emily: But I still need to find something to wear for my birthday party. I'm really excited about it. You are coming, aren't you?
 Callum: Yes, of course ... But can't we have a rest? Shopping's so tiring. And clothes shops are always boring and crowded, especially on Saturdays.
 Emily: I suppose you're not really interested in clothes. That's why you're tired.
 Callum: And bored.
 Emily: Well, do you want to get anything in town today?
 Callum: I'd like to go to the computer shop over there. Now that shop is interesting.
 Emily: But you don't need a new computer.
 Callum: No, but there's a new computer game I want. It's really exciting. I played it at Jack's last week.
 Emily: Look, I promise we'll go to the computer shop afterwards. Come on please. I want to look good at the party and I haven't got anything yet. I want you to help me.
 Callum: Oh, ... all right then.
 Callum: Where shall we go now then?
 Emily: Well, last week I saw a lovely short black wool skirt, with a black and white belt, in that new shop that's just opened. I tried it on but I wasn't sure. It was quite expensive.
 Callum: Well, your mum gave you some money. So why don't we go and see if they still have it? You can try it on again.
 Emily: I hope it's still there. I did like it. And the material felt really soft. I can wear my favourite long black boots with it. I bought them a long time ago but they're comfortable and they'll look good with the skirt. And I can wear ...
 Callum: Come on, then. Oh just a minute. Can we go in this shop first? Look at those white leather trainers. They're really cool. They're just what I want, and they're in the sale.
 Emily: I thought you were tired ...

 Mum: Hello.
 Josh: Hi, Mum.

Mum: Oh, hello Josh. Are you at the station?
 Josh: No. I'm outside my office but I'm getting on my bike now to cycle there. The boss said I could leave at lunchtime so I can catch the 1.30 train.
 Mum: That was nice of him.
 Josh: Yeah. He's a good boss. He treats us well.
 Mum: Well, hurry now so you don't miss the train. It's already one o'clock.
 Josh: Don't worry. I cycle very quickly and it's not far anyway. I know a quick route.
 Mum: Oh, but ride carefully, won't you?
 Josh: Of course I will.
 Mum: You won't be late today, will you Josh?
 Josh: No. I know I'm usually late for everything but I won't be late today.
 Mum: OK. I don't want you to spoil the surprise for Sophie. Everyone's coming here by six o'clock.
 Josh: Yes I know. You've arranged everything perfectly Mum and I'll be there.
 Mum: Good.
 Josh: You know I don't want to miss my little sister's 16th birthday.
 Mum: Yeah, I know. Sorry.
 Josh: I need to go now or I will miss the train.
 Mum: Of course. Bye then. See you later.
 Josh: Bye.

 Josh: Hi. How are you? Happy birthday by the way.
 Sophie: Oh thanks.
 Josh: What's the matter? You sound miserable.
 Sophie: Why can't you come home Josh? It's going to be extremely boring with just me and mum and dad. And I never see you.
 Josh: I know. I'm sorry. I've got a new boss. We have to work very hard and I can't have time off this week.
 Sophie: That's so unfair.
 Josh: But I posted your present on Wednesday. I wrapped it really well so I hope it didn't get broken. Do you like it?
 Sophie: I don't know. It hasn't come.
 Josh: And I sent you a card as well.

Dad: Good. They always stop round the corner. So hurry and try to get near the front of the queue. I hope it doesn't take you too long to get here. The traffic's moving very slowly outside our house.
Josh: It'll be OK Dad. Where's Sophie?
Dad: She's waiting patiently at her friend's house I hope. You know. Er Natasha. She often goes there after school. We told her we had a surprise for her but she doesn't know it's a party. She'll be really pleased to see you.
Josh: Yeah. I'm glad I could come. See you soon then.
Dad: Bye.

Peter: And finally, with new music magazine Smash launching this month, we thought we'd look at how it compares with some of the other music magazines which are on sale. Here to tell us all about them is Jessie Crawford.
Jessie: Thank you Peter. I've got three magazines in front of me – Hits!, Buzz and Smash. Hits! and Buzz have both been around for a while and they're very popular.
Peter: Hits! seems more colourful than Buzz. Does it sell more copies?
Jessie: No, Buzz is as popular as Hits! – probably because of its free posters. Hits! doesn't usually have any posters or other extras. That's why it's less expensive than Buzz. And it's smaller than Buzz too. I think people like it because you can read it more easily. They're very similar magazines really.
Peter: So which one do you prefer?
Jessie: In my opinion Buzz isn't as good as Hits!
Peter: And what about this magazine – Smash?
Jessie: Smash is the newest – as you said, this is its first month – and they're advertising it as the country's best music guide.
Peter: Really?
Jessie: Yeah. It's got the most reviews and contains the most information.
Peter: And do the journalists write well? That's sometimes a problem with these kinds of magazines.

Jessie: Yes, in fact they write much better than some of the journalists on the national newspapers.
Peter: So if you want something interesting to read, buy Smash.
Jessie: Yes, I think so.
Peter: What about price Jessie? How much is Smash?
Jessie: It's £2.50. Hits! is the cheapest at £1.50.
Peter: And Buzz is the most expensive?
Jessie: That's right. It costs £3.20.
Peter: And does Smash have any disadvantages?
Jessie: It has a lot of adverts – all three of them do – but Hits! has the most adverts.
Peter: Let's see what our listeners think. Do you agree with Jessie? Do write in and tell us – send us an email or go to our website and leave us a message – that's www.musicplace ...

Welcome everybody to this Cititours Bus. I hope you're having a good time here in the West of England? I'm Anna and I'm your guide today here in Durrington. Our tours usually last about one hour but this week they're taking a little longer because some roads are closed in the centre of town. I'm here to tell you about some of the most interesting sights in Durrington. Has everyone got a map and can you all hear me? Good, I've got a sore throat and I can't shout.

The bus is now turning into Queens Road. From this road we can see a very modern building. This is the town's new sports stadium. All the big matches happen there but at the moment, an international company is using it for a conference, I think.

OK, so, please look to your left. We're now passing the City Theatre. This building is one hundred years old. It's very pretty, as you see, but it doesn't have enough seats for big shows. We've got a new entertainment centre in Victoria Park. We don't pass it on the bus, but you may be interested to know it's got a cinema and a concert hall. Most people prefer it because it's got air-conditioning but I still enjoy an evening at the old theatre. The theatre's got a very good café if you want somewhere to have lunch.

Now, on your right, is the High Street. This takes you to the Market Place. This Cititour bus normally goes along the High Street into the Market Place. But, um, at the moment some musicians are practising for an outdoor concert there. So we're driving round a slightly different route because the roads into the Market Place are closed. The market was an important local trade centre until about 1970. Farmers bought and sold their cows and sheep there. However, we don't see animals in the city centre these days. The market area's got some good shops round it now. I go there most weekends. Why don't you have a walk round there later on, and then you can have lunch in one of the cafés?

Donny: Hi.
 Mum: Hello Donny, where are you?
 Donny: Oh, hi Mum. I'm on the bus.
 Mum: But it's nearly eleven o'clock.
 Donny: I'll be home in half an hour. I've got something to tell you.
 Mum: Well, I've phoned you three times this evening. You went out and I didn't know where you were. You didn't say goodbye.
 Donny: Oh, sorry. You were having a shower when I went out. I wanted to see the new film at the Arts Cinema and I was late.
 Mum: Well, you didn't say anything to me. I phoned you at eight o'clock. Your phone was on but you didn't answer.
 Donny: Oh, yeah. Sorry.
 Mum: So? Why didn't you answer?
 Donny: I didn't answer my phone because I was listening to an argument. You see, I was having a coffee in the cinema café while I was waiting for the film to begin. I was sitting near the ticket desk and the manager was shouting at a woman. She was one of the ticket sellers. Then she ran out of the cinema. She was almost crying. It was quite exciting.
 Mum: I see. Well, I texted you at nine o'clock. Your phone wasn't on.
 Donny: No, at nine o'clock I was watching the film. Of course my phone wasn't on.
 Mum: And I tried to contact you again at ten o'clock. You didn't answer again.
 Donny: I was talking to the manager when you rang me.
 Mum: What about?
 Donny: Well, I was leaving the cinema when I saw a notice about the ticket seller's job. I went to the manager's office and I applied for it.
 Mum: And?
 Donny: He offered me the job! Three nights a week. And cheap tickets.
 Mum: Oh. We'll talk about that later. You have homework every night.
 Donny: Oh, but Mum ...
 Mum: See you in half an hour. Bye.
 Donny: OK. Bye.

 James: OK, OK, I'll get the door.

Leah: Hi James, happy birthday. I've brought a pizza. I made it this morning.

 Leah: Hello Annie. It's nice to meet you.
 Annie: Hello, Leah. Hello Garry. What are you doing here?
 Leah: Oh, have you two already met?
 Garry: Er, yeah, actually, we have.
 Leah: Oh, really? When did you meet then?
 Garry: Um ... I've seen Annie at the cinema.
 Annie: Yes, I've got an evening job there. I've worked there for two months. But, Garry ...
 Garry: Yes, um, well, happy birthday, James.
 Leah: Yes, happy birthday.
 Leah: Garry, how long have you known Annie?
 Garry: Leah, really, that's the second time you've asked me. I met Annie last week at the cinema.
 Leah: I don't believe you. She's worked there since April.
 Garry: So?
 Leah: You haven't taken me to that cinema for weeks. And you're always busy. Now I'm beginning to understand.
 Garry: But, Leah ...
 Garry: Annie, where were you last weekend? I waited in the cinema for you on Saturday. I was there for an hour.
 Annie: I didn't work last weekend.
 Garry: Oh, I didn't know.
 Annie: And I didn't know about your girlfriend. But I've just met her!
 Garry: Look, I explained last week. She's just a friend, not a girlfriend.
 Annie: She doesn't think so.
 Garry: Just let me explain. Come outside for a minute.
 James: Annie, I need some help in the kitchen. Leah, have you seen Annie?
 Leah: She's gone out.
 James: What? When?
 Leah: She left an hour ago ... with Garry.
 James: Oh, no! But this is my birthday. And she promised to help.
 Leah: I'll help you if you want. It's better than sitting here feeling miserable.

- Dan: Hi. I'm Dan Savery and this week in our series 'Going Back' I'm talking to Peter, a young engineer who has lived in Britain for – is it seven years?
- Peter: Yes, seven.
- Dan: Seven years. And where did you go last week, Peter?
- Peter: Well, last week I visited my home city.
- Dan: This was your first visit in seven years?
- Peter: That's right. And it had changed a lot. I also wanted to see my friend Stefan from high school.
- Dan: I'm sure it was great to see him and look round.
- Peter: Oh, yeah. When I arrived, Stefan had finished his work for the day but he hadn't had lunch, so we went to a café. It was in a smart new building. When we'd eaten lunch, we walked by the river.
- Dan: Nice?
- Peter: Yeah, the riverside used to be the factory area, but now there are gardens and a fantastic new sports centre.
- Dan: That sounds great.
- Peter: Definitely. There didn't use to be a sports centre in the city.
- Dan: What else did you see?
- Peter: We walked across an interesting modern road bridge. The engineers had just started it the year I left. I used to watch them on my way home from school. I had already decided to become an engineer and I was excited because I'd never seen anything like it. But now it's finished and it's so busy.
- Dan: Did there use to be less traffic?
- Peter: Yes. We used to see a lot of big lorries in the city, but most people didn't use to go to work by car, so the roads weren't so busy. We used to get pollution from factories, now it comes from cars!
- Dan: So, not so good, then?
- Peter: No.
- Dan: So, any other surprises?
- Peter: Well, in the evening, we went for a meal in a restaurant. That was the best surprise of the day.
- Dan: Oh?
- Peter: I walked into the restaurant and I saw all my old friends. Stefan had invited them to join us. We had a brilliant evening.

You will hear a tour guide talking to some tourists about the town of Medbury. For each question, fill in the missing information in the numbered space. You will hear the recording twice.

As you can see from the signs, this was Medbury's old cheese market. It's been a market since 1540. Country people used to bring cheese and butter and things here to sell but since 1970 we've had the supermarkets of course, and so this has been a craft market since 1982.

If you want to take presents home, there are plenty of things to choose from like these hand-painted T-shirts or those traditional baskets, but personally, I'd advise you to look first at the stall over there selling jewellery. You really won't find anything like it anywhere else.

Now this town was also well-known for its leather goods, especially shoes. That long building over there was the factory where they were made. It's become a museum because most of the shoes we buy now are made abroad. There'll be time to go and look round it if you want to, and it's quite interesting, actually.

If you need to change some money before you go shopping, you'll find a bank over there beside the cinema. If that one's busy there's another one but it's a few minutes' walk - it's opposite the park.

We'll meet at 4.30. We're taking the coach back to London today as we want to visit somewhere else on the way back but if you come here again from London, the quickest way to get here is by train. The station is just down the road. You can just see the taxi rank outside.

There's a kiosk in the centre of the market here where you can get information about the town. Do go and ask some questions. If you want a map there's a newsagent over there and just behind the town hall is a very nice café.

OK then. Have a good afternoon and I'll see you here at half past four.

Now listen again. (The recording is repeated.)

Hi, Mia. It's me, Tom. I'm on my way and I arrive at seven oh five. I don't need a taxi as I haven't got much luggage - I've only got a few small bags so I can walk from the station. I'll be there about twenty past seven. Shall I buy some food - there's a shop just outside the station. Let me know.

Mia. It's Giorgio. Where are you? I'm in the Central Café in town. I'm really surprised because there isn't anybody here. I was sure we all agreed to meet in the café before going to the cinema but there's nobody here. The café's completely empty. Where is everyone? Have I got the wrong day? I've already rung everybody and no-one's answered and now you're not in. Ring me back if you get this message.

Oh Mia hi. It's Chloe. You know I'm looking for a job. I really need some money urgently for our holiday. Well, I've just bought the paper because it has all the job ads today but I've found nothing. Well I haven't found anything I can apply for. So I wondered about the shop where you work. I'm a bit worried because I've got no experience but I do work hard. Do they need anyone? Will it matter that I haven't got any experience? Ring me back. Please!

Mia. This is Roseanne. It's about the picnic tomorrow. Everything is organised. Lots of people are coming and everyone's bringing something. Can you bring some bread? Oh, and can you buy some crisps? We'll need several packets. Have I forgotten anything? Oh, I bought a couple of cakes. Because it's your birthday tomorrow and mine on Tuesday, I got two cakes. There'll be a lot of people so I'm sure we'll eat them both. See you at 12 by the river. We'll find somewhere quiet. Talk to you later. Don't forget to ring me.

Presenter: And now we're going to talk to Kirsty who recently appeared on the TV programme 'New Rooms'.

Kirsty: Yes. Hi.

Presenter: You're going to talk about your bedroom I believe. Can you tell us what happened?

Kirsty: Yes. Well, my mum wrote into the show and she asked them to do a makeover on my bedroom for my birthday. You know, they go to a different place every week and change someone's room.

Presenter: Sounds great.

Kirsty: Well, there were three people who came - two men and a woman - and each of them had a different job to do. They spent all week in my bedroom.

Presenter: Did they ask you what you wanted?

Kirsty: Yeah. They showed me some paint and we tried each colour on the wall. In the end I had to choose between blue and orange.

Presenter: So what did you choose?

Kirsty: Well, either colour was OK with me so they did two walls blue and two walls orange. But now they've finished, neither of the colours looks very nice.

Presenter: And what about the furniture?

Kirsty: I like my bed so I've kept that. They didn't really want me to have much furniture at all but I said I needed a desk and a chair and a TV. Well, all teenagers watch TV and most people have a TV in their room, don't they? In fact, every room in our house has a TV.

Presenter: So you've got a TV?

Kirsty: Yes and an armchair. It's red and it's really ugly. And I've got a fridge. I was a bit surprised. I didn't expect that.

Presenter: No bedrooms have fridges in them, do they? But I suppose you can keep drinks cold in the summer. Is there anything in the room you like?

Kirsty: There are two new lights and both of them are really nice but they've put some old-fashioned pictures on the wall. I like modern art and none of them are modern. I do like the one of a sunset, though. I had some posters on the wall before but most of them were very old. And they broke my mirror so they bought a new one. It's cool. It's got stars round it and each star has a light in it.

Presenter: So that's good. Your bedroom sounds different anyway but you don't really like it.
 Kirsty: No, but most of my friends like it. Some of them want to copy it.
 Presenter: So what do you think of designers?
 Kirsty: I think they're all mad! I'm going to be a scientist.
 Presenter: OK. Well good luck with that and bad luck with the room, Kirsty. Now our next guest is here to tell us ...

Recording 11a

Boy: Have you seen 'Market Street' this week? I missed last night's programme. Did anything exciting happen?
 Girl: It was about Cara. (Who?) You know. Cara is Sally's sister and they share a flat. Well, Sally went on holiday but she lent her key to their cousin Tony. He doesn't have his own flat and he wants to leave his parents' house because he isn't happy living with them.
 Boy: Now who's Tony?
 Girl: He's that good-looking one. You know, he works in the newsagent's. Do you remember he broke his leg a few months ago? Oh yeah. Carry on. The problem was that Sally forgot to tell Cara about the key. And she didn't know that Tony and Cara had had a big argument two weeks before and they were still angry with each other. So when Tony arrived at the flat, Cara was furious and refused to let him in. She was really rude to him because she was looking forward to being in the flat on her own.
 Boy: So what did Tony do?
 Girl: Well, later on when Cara was at work he used Sally's key and went into the flat. He was sitting there by himself when he had an idea.
 Boy: Yes ...
 Girl: He invited some friends of Cara's to the flat. So when Cara arrived home in the evening, there were lots of people there. They'd cooked a meal and they were all waiting for her.
 Boy: So did she get angry again?
 Girl: They were friends of hers so she couldn't. She came in and had some nice food. She really enjoyed herself. They all went home about midnight.
 Boy: And what about Tony?
 Girl: Oh, she let him stay. She decided he wasn't so bad after all. But I don't know what her boyfriend will think. He's been away but he's coming back soon.
 Boy: He's that huge guy, isn't he? Could be interesting.

You will hear an interview with Helen who is a basketball player. For each question put a tick in the correct box. You will hear the recording twice.

Interviewer: Welcome to 'Sport People', the programme where we talk to people interested in different sports. Today we have in the studio Helen who plays basketball and lives in the United States with her twin sister. She's back in Britain for a holiday. Welcome Helen. Tell us, where are you living in the States?
 Helen: In North Carolina. Our hobby was playing basketball and a friend of ours told us about colleges in the United States which train people in particular sports. We were both really excited at the idea so we applied and we got places because we're good at basketball.
 Interviewer: So you went to the United States straight from school?
 Helen: No, we had started at college in England. The lectures and everything were free there but we had to pay for our training which was really expensive. At the American college everything is free except for our accommodation. We don't pay for our courses and we get free basketball training. We actually have our own trainer.
 Interviewer: And in return you play in their college team. And what about the rest of the team? What are they like?
 Helen: Fine. We get on well. We're lucky we've never had to stop playing because of injuries. Quite a few in the team have had to stop playing because they hurt themselves. We aren't very tall in comparison to the rest of the team - in fact we're the smallest, but we're just as strong as them, maybe even stronger.
 Interviewer: And what's it like being a sports student?
 Helen: Well, some people think because we're training and playing matches we don't have to study hard but that's not true. We study sports science and medicine as well as all the other subjects so we study harder in fact. And if we miss any of our classes we're not allowed to play in the team.
 Interviewer: Oh, I nearly forgot to ask. When did you first start playing basketball?
 Helen: We've been in the United States since last August and we'll be there for at least four years. But we started playing six years ago after watching our brother in matches. He still plays and he started playing more than ten years ago. His team isn't as good as ours of course!

Interviewer: And what about your free time?

Helen: Er, I spend most of my time studying and training. I'm not really interested in shopping like most of my friends. My sister and I get quite tired so when we have free time we usually sit in our room by ourselves watching TV. We share a room and we look after each other as we are so far from home.

Now listen again. (The recording is repeated.)

Kelly: Hi Elliot.
 Elliot: Hi Kelly.
 Kelly: What are you doing tonight?
 Elliot: Well ...
 Kelly: We've got tickets for a film. We're going to see the new James Bond film. It starts at nine o'clock.
 Elliot: Oh, that would be great but I can't.
 Kelly: But why? We've finished our exams.
 Elliot: I'm not studying for exams tonight. You know my company?
 Kelly: No I don't know what you're talking about.
 Elliot: I've started an internet company.
 Kelly: You've what?
 Elliot: I sell books and CDs online and there are articles and things written by teenagers for teenagers.
 Kelly: Wow.
 Elliot: So you can sit at home, have fun and do your shopping on the screen without leaving the house. All you need is a mouse and a keyboard.
 Kelly: And a computer of course.
 Elliot: Yeah, yeah. Everybody will do shopping by computer in a few years' time.
 Kelly: Oh, I'm sure you're right. But, anyway, what about Saturday and Sunday? We're going to spend the weekend at the seaside. My brother's going to drive us there.
 Elliot: I'm flying to Rome tomorrow.
 Kelly: No!
 Elliot: I'm meeting a designer at 10.30 on Saturday.
 Kelly: Well, come on Sunday then.
 Elliot: My flight leaves Rome at 11 pm on Saturday and it arrives in London at 1 am. I won't get much sleep on Saturday night so I expect I'll be asleep all day on Sunday. I'll probably feel really tired.
 Kelly: OK then. Don't worry about your friends. I'm sure your company is more interesting.
 Elliot: Don't be annoyed. Look, I've got half an hour free. Let's do something now. What about a coffee?

Kelly: OK. I'll have a coffee with you.
 Elliot: And I'll pay. Come on, Kelly. I'll be 17 next week and I hope that in three years' time I'll be really rich, I'll have a fast car and I'll drive you all to the seaside or wherever you want ...

Alex: Excuse me. I've come for an interview. The waiter's job. My name's Alex.
 Maria: Oh yes. Mr Kent's expecting you. He's the boss. I'm Maria.
 Alex: Hi Maria. Can I sit here for a minute?
 Maria: Yes of course you can. Have you come a long way?
 Alex: Not far but I walked quickly. May I get a drink of water? I'm really thirsty.
 Maria: Yes, of course. Over there look.
 Alex: Could I use the phone? I just want to ring my girlfriend.
 Maria: I'm afraid not. We're not allowed to. Oh look, here's Mr Kent.

Alex: Morning Maria.
 Maria: Morning Alex. Are you looking forward to your first day here? [Mm] I'm getting everything ready.
 Alex: OK.
 Maria: Can you help me? Can you do those tables over there? Knives, forks and glasses.
 Alex: Of course I can.
 Maria: When you've finished the tables, will you help me put out today's menus?
 Alex: Yes I will.
 Maria: And would you check the salt and pepper? Each table has one of each.
 Alex: OK.
 Maria: Then could you sweep the floor?
 Alex: Is that my job? I'm a waiter not a cleaner.
 Maria: Yes, it is part of your job you know.

Mr Kent: Well Alex. How was your first day?
 Alex: Great. I've enjoyed it. But shall we move some tables outside? People like sitting outside. And we could serve more interesting food perhaps. I mean, some of it's really boring.
 Mr Kent: Now, just a minute.
 Alex: Let's go into the kitchen now. I've got some ideas. I can make one of my special recipes if you like.

Mr Kent: That won't be necessary Alex. I don't think being a waiter is the right job for you.
 Maria: Shall I put the advert back in the window Mr Kent?

There are seven questions in this part. For each question, there are three pictures and a short recording. Choose the correct picture and put a tick in the box below it. You will hear each recording twice.

1 What does the woman order?

Woman: Excuse me. I want to buy one of those jackets over there. The one with a belt and a collar but you don't have my size - 36.

Shop assistant: You'll have to order it. Shall I have a look on the computer for you? It's got a zip up the front, hasn't it? Well, I'm afraid we haven't got any more but we have one exactly like it but without the belt.

Woman: I don't really like belts anyway so that's fine. I'll order it. Now, may I try on that skirt - the one in the window.

Shop assistant: Of course.

Now listen again. (The recording is repeated.)

2 Where is the boy?

Jack: Hi, Mum.

Mum: Hello, Jack. I expected you home half an hour ago. Where are you?

Jack: Well I got on the wrong bus. I've walked back to the bus station. It took a long time but there isn't a bus now for two hours. So would you come and pick me up? I'll wait for you here.

Mum: I'm sorry Jack. I'm afraid I can't. I'm finishing some work. Why don't you call a taxi?

Now listen again. (The recording is repeated.)

3 When will the man see Dr Browning?

Receptionist: Good morning. Dr Browning's surgery.

Man: Oh, hello. I've got an appointment tomorrow afternoon at a quarter to six. Could I change it please? I need to come earlier.

Receptionist: OK. Just a minute. Er ... we've got one at ten to three and one at five past four.

Man: Thanks. I'll take the earlier one.

Now listen again. (The recording is repeated.)

4 Where will the man park his car?

Man: Excuse me, can I leave my car here?

Woman: No, I'm afraid not. This is just for people who live in the flats. But if you carry on down this street and take the first road on the left, you'll come to a crossroads. Go straight over and then take the first turning on the right. There's a car park at the end of that street. It's never busy and it's not far.

Man: Oh, thank you so much.

Now listen again. (The recording is repeated.)

5 What do they decide to do?

Man: Do you want to go out tonight? What about going to see a film at the cinema?

Woman: There's nothing good on. Shall we go to that new restaurant?

Man: It's quite expensive. Let's rent a DVD. We'll have more choice than at the cinema.

Woman: All right. I can't really afford the restaurant either.

Now listen again. (The recording is repeated.)

6 What does Jane want Maria to do?

Hi Maria. It's me. Jane. Could you help me please? I know you're looking after your little brother today. Well, my mum's ill and there's nobody to look after my sister. I've got to go to work in the shop. They'll be really annoyed if I don't go. So can you do it? My sister can play with your brother. I'll borrow my friend's car and drive her to your flat before I go to work. Ring me back as soon as you can.
 Now listen again. (The recording is repeated.)

7 How will the woman travel to the city centre?

Receptionist: Good morning madam.

Woman: Good morning. I want to go into the city centre. I'm thinking of walking there. Is it far?

Receptionist: It'll take you about half an hour. Shall I book you a taxi? That would be quicker. Or you could take the underground. That's the fastest way.

Woman: I'm not in a hurry so I'll go on foot. And I'll see more that way. Thank you for your help.

Now listen again. (The recording is repeated.)

Rosie: Mum ... Mum ... You'll never guess. I'm going to be on TV.

Mum: Really?

Rosie: Yes. A few weeks ago the local TV station had a big advert outside for people to appear on a programme called 'Life in The Castle'.

Mum: What castle?

Rosie: Oh, it's in Scotland somewhere. The idea is that a group of people go and live together there for a week and they're filmed. You know ...

Mum: You mean it's one of these reality TV programmes?

Rosie: Yes. That's right. We live together in the castle and pretend it's hundreds of years ago. We have to look after the animals and things like that.

Mum: Well, I'm not sure about this. Who are the other people?

Rosie: Oh, we're all ordinary people. We don't have to be good at acting or anything like that.

Mum: I see, but how were you chosen?

Rosie: Well, when I saw the advert I went in and talked to them and then I forgot about it. But I've just had a letter.

Mum: So you're going to live in the castle ...

Rosie: ... for a week. Oh, I'm so excited. But there are lots of rules about what we must and mustn't do.

Mum: Are you allowed to phone me?

Rosie: No we mustn't use mobile phones.

Mum: That'll be difficult for you.

Rosie: I know. And we mustn't take modern equipment with us like CD players. There's no electricity anyway. But we have to wear a microphone all the time for the TV programme.

Mum: So, no mobile you said. You ought to take a diary so you can write down what happens.

Rosie: That's not allowed either.

Mum: Well, it'll be boring. You could take some books.

Rosie: No books. And we don't have to take our own clothes because they give us those. I expect they'll be horrible.

Mum: Do you need to take any food with you?

Rosie: They give us food because we can't grow it all like they did hundreds of years ago but we have to cook the meals.

Mum: Why don't you cook me a meal tonight as practice?

Rosie: OK. I should learn to cook I suppose.

Mum: Well, you must read the letter carefully and check the details. You shouldn't sign anything until you've done that.

Rosie: I have read it Mum.

Mum: And if you don't like it there?

Rosie: We needn't stay there if we don't like it. But I will like it!

Mum: And I suppose ... I shouldn't worry so much.

Rosie: No, I'll be fine. You really needn't worry. I must phone my friends and tell them.

Mum: Just a minute.

Questioner: And let's see how we're doing so far. Team A, you have six points. For the last round of our quiz, we have our 'guess what's in the photo' question. Team A, it's your turn first. Can you say what's in the photo?

Team A man: Mmm ... It might be an insect. I think it could be a butterfly because those are its wings.

Team A woman: It can't be a butterfly because it hasn't got a body.

Team A man: It could be a hairbrush.

Team A woman: A strange hairbrush! What about a flower?

Team A man: But it's got a hole in it.

Team A woman: Mmm, you're right. It can't be a flower ... I know, that's paper, so it must be a book - it's an open book.

Questioner: Is that your answer?

Man and woman: Yes

Questioner: OK. Team B. Here's your photo. Are you able to say what the object is?

Team B man: Let's see. I think it may be a headlight ... of a car.

Team B woman: Mmm. I don't think so. I think it's something very small.

Team B man: Mmm. It could be a needle. That's the hole at the end of the needle.

Team B woman: No it's the wrong shape, it can't be a needle. Oh dear, I can't decide what it is.

Team B man: Oh. It might be a pencil.

Team B woman: Oh yes. Wait a minute. It must be a pen because that looks like ink.

Team B man: Oh, yes.

Questioner: Is that your answer?

Team B woman: Yes. It's a pen.

Questioner: Both teams have answered correctly. Picture A is the top of an open book and Picture B is the end of a pen. Now, Team A, will you be able to come back next week? (yes) Team B, will you be able to come back next week? (yes) Good, because next week ...

DJ: Hi everybody and welcome to our very special phone-in. I have one of my favourite singers here with me. Della Dombey, we're so excited to have you here in Manchester with us all the way from the USA!

Della: And I'm excited to be here. Thank you for inviting me.

DJ: Thank you for agreeing to answer listeners' questions.

Della: It's my pleasure.

DJ: Well, we've got lots of people waiting to speak to you, so let's hear our first one. And it's Chrissie. Chrissie, what's your question?

Chrissie: Hi Della.

Della: Hi.

Chrissie: Um, do you like Manchester?

Della: Yes, I do. It's a great city.

Chrissie: How long are you going to stay here?

Della: Only four days. I know that's not long enough. But I have to go to London after the concert here at the weekend.

DJ: I'm looking forward to that concert very much.

Della: So am I!

DJ: Now let's hear our next caller. This is Sabrina.

Della: Hi, Sabrina.

Sabrina: Uh, hello Della. Um. Where did you sing in public for the first time?

Della: Umm, at my high school concert. I was terrible!

DJ: We don't believe that! And now here's Matt with his question.

Matt: Della, have you been to any clubs in Manchester?

Della: No, I haven't. But my boyfriend and I are going out tonight. We know Manchester has some fantastic clubs.

DJ: Who is your boyfriend now, Della?

Della: Dean Bradley. We're still together. I know the newspapers say we're not, but they're wrong!

DJ: I'm happy to hear that, Della. Now we've just time for one more question. And it's from Sassy.

Sassy: My question is about music, Della. We all love your music, but whose music do you like best?

Della: Ah. My boyfriend Dean's! He's really talented and I know he's going to be famous soon.

DJ: Well, I'm afraid we've run out of time. Sorry to everyone who didn't ask their question and a big thank you to Della Dombey. And if you ...

Look at the six sentences for this part. You will hear a conversation between a teenager, Amy, and her mother about a trip. Decide if each sentence is correct or incorrect. If it is correct put a tick in the box under A for YES. If it is not correct put a tick in the box under B for NO. You will hear the recording twice.

Amy: Mum ... I've just given up my job in the café.

Mum: What?

Amy: I decided to leave. I've got plans.

Mum: I'm sure they'll understand if you say you made a mistake. You can't leave a job after such a short time. Give them a ring in the morning and explain.

Amy: No, I'm not going to do that. It's not that I didn't like the job or anything. In fact I'm sorry to leave. But I've got other plans now.

Mum: What plans have you got?

Amy: We're going to travel.

Mum: Where are you going to go?

Amy: Round the world.

Mum: And how long is this trip going to take?

Amy: At least six months.

Mum: Well, which countries are you going to visit?

Amy: First of all Thailand and India and then maybe China.

Mum: But just a minute. You said we. Who's going with you?

Amy: Ricky.

Mum: Ricky ... Now, is he that boy who you used to see on the bus? The one you talked about all the time? Does his mum work in the library?

Amy: No, Mum, not him! I'm talking about my cousin Ricky.

Mum: Oh. But I haven't seen him since he was about 15.

Amy: No, neither have I. But he sent me an email on my birthday last year and I replied and he's phoned and emailed me several times since then.

Mum: But are you sure you'll get on all right? You don't really know him. I always liked him when he was little.

Amy: So did I. And it's not the first time he's been to Asia so that'll be helpful.

Mum: But do you like doing the same kinds of things?

Amy: Yes, we do. I like sports and adventure and so does Ricky.

Mum: OK. So when is all this going to happen?

Amy: Next month.

Mum: Well, that's not very long to make all the arrangements.

Amy: No, it isn't so we've already started but I think we ought to get together before we set off.

Mum: So do I. You don't even know what he looks like now. All right then, let's get a map ...

Hello, welcome to Forest Adventure! I'm Isobel and I'd like to tell you a few things before you go to your cottage so you can find everything easily. We have so many facilities, and I don't want you to miss anything. If you look at this map beside me, you can see that the cottages are all across the lake from this building. You can reach your cottage by car over the bridge or you can walk or cycle round the lake on the paths. Cars aren't allowed on these paths, so they're very safe. You can hire bikes in the bicycle store, which is the building next to this one. You can cycle anywhere in the park, except on the road and in the square. The swimming pools are at the east end of the lake, with three restaurants above them. The square and café are in front of the swimming pool building. The shops are opposite, with a hairdresser, a chemist and so on. At the other end of the lake we have the gym with the tennis courts and skateboarding area behind it. You can borrow rackets and other equipment from the kiosk between the courts and the skateboarding area. The disco is under the gym. Can you see the island in the lake? There's a barbecue on the island twice a week. When you arrive at your cottage you'll find details of all our special events. And of course we have paths through the forest where you can get away from everything for a quiet walk. But I'll leave you to enjoy exploring those. If you have any questions, please do call in here. We're here to make your stay as much fun as we possibly can. Now, let me give you your cottage keys.

Simon: And now, what about the sports events we can look forward to in the next few months?

Dea: Well, in ten days there's one of my favourite events, the London Marathon.

Simon: And are you taking part this year?

Dea: Yes, I love it. I run every day for one or two hours. So I'm nearly ready for it, I hope.

Simon: That's great, we'll all watch you on the day of the race. And now, what else?

Dea: Well, we've got some great football very soon. Next month there's the Cup Final in London of course.

Simon: That's on the 18th, right?

Dea: OK, so that's in your diary now. But don't forget the rugby final in Paris. That's what I'm going to watch. That's the same weekend, but on Sunday.

Simon: Yeah, and there's more great football, at the European Champions' final, which is at the end of the month in Dublin.

Dea: Then if you're a motor racing fan, don't forget the British Grand Prix in July. But don't wait till July to get your tickets.

Simon: And talking of tickets that sell out, this summer, as usual, fans will arrive at sunrise and queue for hours to see their favourite tennis stars play at Wimbledon.

Dea: I think, if you want to go during the first week, it's worth waiting until five o'clock. You can get in more cheaply then and still see some wonderful tennis.

Simon: That's true. I did that on my birthday last year and saw several big name players.

Dea: Of course, if it rains during a match, you don't get your money back, but that's a chance you have to take.

Simon: Yeah, well that's sport in the summer in England, isn't it?

Dea: And that's all. We haven't got any more time at the moment, but we'll be back tomorrow with more music and chat. So bye from me.

Simon: And bye from me!

Mr Orwell: OK everyone. That's all for today. Don't forget your homework for Thursday. Katie, can I talk to you for a minute?

Katie: Yes?

Mr Orwell: Katie, why haven't you asked me for a university application form?

Katie: Oh, well. Umm, you see, well, I mean. I've changed my mind. I don't feel like going to university.

Mr Orwell: But you're a very good student.

Katie: Well, my sisters, you know, Emma and Olivia insist on applying for the same university as me.

Mr Orwell: Mm. Well I approve of that plan.

Katie: Do you?

Mr Orwell: You're interested in studying different subjects, and it'll be good to have people you know at university, so I don't think there's a problem.

Katie: Sorry, but there is. They're both so good at their subjects and if I'm not good enough, what will I do?

Mr Orwell: You mean you think your sisters may succeed in getting places at university, but not you?

Katie: Yes, I'm really worried about it. They've already started to fill in the forms.

Mr Orwell: So talk to them. Explain your feelings. You usually get on well with your sisters. And you may find that they're also worried about getting places at university.

Katie: I don't think so. They're really excited about going away to study.

Mr Orwell: Shall I tell you a secret?

Katie: Er ... OK.

Mr Orwell: Last week Emma came to me in private. She said she didn't want to go to university because ...

Katie: She was worried she'd be the only one who didn't get a place?

Mr Orwell: Exactly! And yesterday, Olivia told me the same thing. So stop worrying about it. I'm sure you'll all do well. I'm looking forward to congratulating you all on your exam results.

Katie: Oh, thank you. And thank you for listening to me. And to my sisters.

Mr Orwell: Now take this application form. Give it back to me by Friday and I'll look through it with you.

Katie: Yes, I will. OK. Bye. Thanks.

Mr Orwell: Bye Katie.

Mickey: Hi, Cristina.

Cristina: Hi, Mickey.

Mickey: How was work?

Cristina: Horrible as usual. The manager has put up a notice today. It says 'No talking except on business'. He's not human!

Mickey: Oh, dear. Well, you'll soon have enough money for the big trip to New Zealand, then you can leave.

Cristina: Yes, I don't enjoy working there. I haven't had a pleasant day since joining that company!

Mickey: Well, I've been busy too. I've been on the Internet since finishing my essay. We need to get plenty of information before planning our holiday. I found this website while looking for ideas about South Island.

Cristina: Yeah?

Mickey: It's about this place called Doubtful Sound.

Cristina: Funny name!

Mickey: Yeah, it's like a kind of lake in the National Park. It's brilliant for natural beauty.

Cristina: Can we go walking there? You promised to go walking with me on holiday.

Mickey: Well, we probably can, but, um, actually this website is about a company that does boat trips.

Cristina: Is it a good place to take photos?

Mickey: Oh, yeah, we'll see some fantastic scenery, so taking photographs is one of the main attractions of the trip.

Cristina: What about animals?

Mickey: It says here, 'Seeing dolphins and seals is almost certain, seeing penguins is a possibility.'

Cristina: Really? It's one of my dreams to see some penguins.

Mickey: Anyway, we'll look at the website again before booking. You can see what the accommodation's like, too.

Cristina: Good.

Mickey: It sounds quite comfortable, and they provide food of course. In fact it says 'When booking, please tell us if you are vegetarians.' So that's OK for you.

Cristina: Yeah. It does sound good.

Mickey: We can book by filling in this form online. We can do it without leaving the house. I'll make some coffee and then we can look at it together.

Cristina: Thanks, that's a good idea. I need a good coffee after working in that office all day!

Jeff: In a few minutes I'm going to teach you to make necklaces, but before we start I'd like to share some ideas with you. When you decide to make something, think about what you intend to do with it. Can you imagine wearing it yourself? Do you hope to sell it? At first it may not be perfect ...

Mary: But I just want to make interesting jewellery for myself. I don't mind wearing something which isn't completely perfect, if I've made it.

Garth: I want to sell mine if I can. It needs to be really good or nobody will want to buy it.

Jeff: Well, I advise students to make several things before they consider selling anything. You need to practise using different materials and making different designs. I can help you.

Garth: But I can't afford to buy a lot of materials. People like expensive stones.

Jeff: Sure. But for now, I suggest practising with simple things.

Garth: OK. Will you help us to choose the best beads to start with?

Jeff: Of course. I've got some coloured, plastic beads, or some stones here if you feel like making something heavier.

Mary: Oh, beads for me. I hate wearing heavy jewellery.

Garth: But I don't mind.

Jeff: OK, but remember to check the weight of your materials before you begin. Avoid making jewellery which is so heavy you can't wear it! I remember making some earrings for a customer. They were beautiful, but she only wore them once. She made me use lots of heavy stones and they hurt her ears so much she couldn't wear them! OK. Let's look at the other things you need. I've got some nylon or leather here. I'll let you decide. Which do you prefer to use?

Mary: Nylon for me.

Garth: Well, I plan to wear this one myself, so leather for me.

Jeff: And here are the stones and beads. Try to find some which look good together.

Mary: Oh, they're beautiful.

Garth: Yeah. I'd like to use these square black ones.

Jeff: Don't forget. Design something simple this time.

Mary: Oh, yes.

Jeff: Right, let's begin.

Mrs Scott: Good morning Edina, please have a seat.

Edina: Thank you, Mrs Scott.

Mrs Scott: OK, so you'd like a job in my souvenir shop for six months.

Edina: Yes. I've finished school and I want to work and travel before I go to university next year. When I finish working here, I'll probably travel abroad. That's why I want to earn some money.

Mrs Scott: I see. Well, you know the wages aren't very high, but if you work here on Sundays, you'll earn extra money. And we close at six, so your evenings will be free if you work here. Have you worked in a shop before?

Edina: Yes, well, the camera shop. Do you know it? The one near the park.

Mrs Scott: Oh, right. Yes, I know the owner. Simon Brown, isn't it? So, Edina, what's the most important thing about working in a shop?

Edina: You have to serve people quickly. Customers get annoyed if they have to wait.

Mrs Scott: That's quite right.

Edina: And you must also smile and be friendly.

Mrs Scott: Mm. If the shop assistants aren't friendly, the shop loses customers.

Edina: Yes.

Mrs Scott: If I phone the camera shop, will Simon recommend you?

Edina: Yes, I think so.

Mrs Scott: OK. You'll start work on Monday unless I phone you. I just want to have a quick chat with Simon first, but I'm sure everything will be fine. You can start on Monday?

Edina: Oh, yes. What time do I need to be here?

Mrs Scott: If I don't phone you tomorrow, you'll start at nine o'clock.

Edina: OK. Thanks very much.

Mrs Scott: So, what about this trip you want the money for? Where do you plan to go?

Edina: Well, if I save two thousand pounds, I'll go to South America. But if not, I mean, if I don't save as much as that, I'll go round Europe.

Mrs Scott: Oh, that sounds very exciting.

Edina: I hope it will be.

Mrs Scott: I'm sure it will. So, OK, that's it for now.

Edina: Thanks, goodbye.

Mrs Scott: Bye.

Patti: Welcome to Music World. I'm Patti and our guest this week is every band's favourite songwriter, Carl Ryder.

Carl: Hi, Patti.

Patti: Thanks for coming to the studio, Carl. We know you've had a lot of success in the past few years, but is life in the music business all fun, or are there any disadvantages?

Carl: Well, it is fun, yes, but if you want to be successful it's hard work. That can cause problems. (Mm?) For example, I wish I had more free time.

Patti: What would you do, if you didn't have so much work?

Carl: Well, if I had time, I'd go to more concerts. It's good for me to hear new bands.

Patti: I hope you'll get a break soon. But what about new songs? Are you writing any at the moment?

Carl: Oh yeah, I am. But it's tiring, because I'm trying to write new songs in the evening and in the day I'm going to meetings, working with singers and so on. I wish I wasn't so busy. It would be good if I could spend a few weeks somewhere just writing songs.

Patti: Well, I know you can't go away now, but if you could go anywhere in the world, where would you go?

Carl: If I went away now, I'd choose somewhere warm and sunny, but quiet.

Patti: Mmm. But wouldn't you be bored if it was a quiet place?

Carl: No, because I'd write songs. I wouldn't want to talk to people if I had songs to write. (Yeah, right.) Of course I'd go somewhere lively if I didn't have any work to do at all, somewhere with lots of clubs and good shops!

Patti: Uh-huh. I know you have many interests apart from your songwriting. You've had a lot of success with that of course, but if you weren't a songwriter, what would you be?

Carl: Mm. If I wasn't a songwriter, I'd be a fashion designer.

Patti: Really?

Carl: Yeah, I studied design at university for a year before I had my first successful song. I really like unusual clothes. But I never have enough time to look for them.

Patti: Maybe when you're not so busy. On that holiday you're going to have one day.

Carl: Yeah, maybe.

Patti: Well, Carl. I hope that'll be soon. And thank you for giving us your time today.

Carl: You're welcome.

Alan: Hi, Maria. I'm going to the cinema this afternoon. Do you want to come?

Maria: Well, what are you going to see?

Alan: 'Norman Starman III.'

Maria: Norman what?

Alan: Where have you been? This is the third Norman Starman film. The first two Starman films were made about three years ago.

Maria: I never saw them.

Alan: They're just brilliant. Really funny. In the second one the main part was given to a different actor, but he was just as good as the first one.

Maria: So what are they about?

Alan: Well, they're all about this guy Norman. He's a space traveller. (Oh, yeah.) And, um, in the first film Norman is caught by aliens and he is taken to their planet.

Maria: So what happens?

Alan: He's taught to speak their language and he's changed by their scientists so he looks like them. But he still feels like a fifteen-year-old human. It's really funny.

Maria: Is that how it ends?

Alan: No, at the end of the film he escapes. He flies away in one of their spaceships but he doesn't realise that two of the aliens are hiding in the spaceship. So these aliens go to earth with him.

Maria: It sounds quite funny.

Alan: Yeah, it is. They get on well together on the journey and various things happen, you know. But the spaceship is damaged when they land, although they aren't hurt, luckily. And that's how it ends.

Maria: What happens in the second film, then?

Alan: Well, he's on earth, but he's got these two aliens with him. Norman is arrested by the army and he's put in a special kind of prison with the aliens.

Maria: Why?

Alan: The humans think he's an alien too because he looks like them now. The soldiers don't believe him when he tries to explain. Anyway, one of them, a woman, believes him in the end and she helps him escape. She has the spaceship repaired at a friend's garage. But the aliens are waiting to be rescued and that's what the third film will be about.

Maria: Yeah, I'd like to see it. I wonder what will happen.

Alan: Mm. The aliens will be rescued, I guess, and then they'll go back to their planet again. But I don't know how it'll be done. I'm sure Norman will get into trouble somehow.

Maria: Well, let's go. It'll be nice to do something silly for a change.

Nick: Hi Will. It's Nick here.

Will: Hi. Hey, where were you on Friday night?

Nick: I'm sorry I didn't meet you. That's why I'm ringing. I had an argument with my mum.

Will: What was it about?

Nick: Well, I didn't have to go to college on Friday so I asked a few friends round. I hadn't expected mum to come home early. So when she arrived she was really angry.

Will: Why?

Nick: Oh, you know, because there were some dirty plates and a few saucepans.

Will: Why? Were you cooking?

Nick: Yeah. We had some spaghetti. Anyway she said I couldn't go out because I hadn't tidied the house and I hadn't washed up.

Will: That's so unfair.

Nick: She said she was expecting visitors and the house was dirty and untidy.

Will: Was it?

Nick: Not really. But she said I had to stay at home. But I did feel a bit guilty so I said I would wash up.

Will: Yeah? And what about the others?

Nick: She said my friends should help too but they'd disappeared by then. All that shouting frightened them I think.

Will: So you washed up?

Nick: Yeah. But she was still angry. She seems to forget all the things I do to help. So I said that I had washed the car the week before but that seemed to make her angrier because I forgot that she paid me to do that.

Will: So what did she say then?

Nick: She said she was going to keep my pocket money this week.

Will: No way!

Nick: So I can't go out tonight either because I haven't got any money.

Will: I can lend you some. I'll see you at the bus stop at 8 then?

Nick: Great. See you there.

Boss: Tim. I've just read this article. I wrote the headline for you and we found a good photo but you've written about football. That's not what our readers want. They want to know the interesting things about Joe Chapman. Did you ask him the questions I gave you? Did you ask him about his new girlfriend?

Tim: No, but I asked him why he hadn't scored any goals on Saturday – he usually scores at least one.

Boss: Yes ...

Tim: I asked him how his knee was because he'd hurt it in training. He said it was getting better.

Boss: I'm delighted.

Tim: I told him to be careful the next time.

Boss: Great. But did you ask him who he was with at that nightclub last week?

Tim: No, but I asked him if his mother always watched his games.

Boss: Very interesting I'm sure. And does she?

Tim: Yes, every single one.

Boss: Did you ask him about the argument with the new manager?

Tim: No, but I asked him how long he was going to stay with the team. I asked him if he was happy. He said that he had no plans to move to another club.

Boss: I'm very pleased for him. But surely you asked him about his free time? We want to know where he goes, what he does.

Tim: No, but I invited him to have lunch with me after the interview.

Boss: And he agreed?

Tim: Yes.

- Boss: So then you asked him about the TV programme he's going to do?
- Tim: No, but he reminded me to watch the match next Saturday as it's a really important one.
- Boss: But not very interesting information for our readers.
- Tim: I asked him where he would play next Saturday – which position. He said that he'd play his normal position - Centre forward.
- Boss: What about those fashion adverts he's in – for men's clothes? Did you ask him how much he earns from those?
- Tim: No, but I asked him if his team would win the cup. He said he expected them to win for the third time. Oh and we didn't get a photograph of him because he asked us not to take any.
- Boss: Oh, next time I'll do it myself. And I advise you not to do any more interviews with Joe Chapman.

Welcome to the TBC studios. My name is Rob and I'm going to show you round. I know some of you are interested in working in television so please ask me any questions. We may meet some other people who you can talk to while we're walking round. OK. So follow me please. This way.

This is the news studio. Here's the desk where the newsreader sits to read the news. Behind the studio is the newsroom where the news team choose the stories which will be in the news. Every morning they choose the headline the newsreader will read first. We call that the lead story. But by the evening, the headlines will probably change. And here's a man whose face you'll recognise. Hello, Gavin. Gavin presents the lunchtime news every day. Gavin, have you got time to answer a few questions? Anyone like to ask ...

I'm sure you know where we are now – this is the sitting room which belongs to the Baxter family. They live in Solomon Street – that's the soap opera which you can see every evening at 7 on TBC. Well, some of you seem to recognise it. Lots of things have happened here. This is the room where Mark asked Jill to marry him and here's a photo which shows them on their wedding day. Ten million people watched that. And through the window you can see the café which Mark owns. It's only the front of the café of course. The inside is in a different studio. Anyone keen on sport? OK. Well this is the sports room where we report on all the sports events which take place around the world. We have different presenters who are all experts in their sport. For instance, people who were stars like Sally Ravenna, the tennis champion and Peter Davenport, the international rugby player. And it looks as though we're lucky today. Here's a footballer you'll recognise. He played for England over 50 times. Hello Jack. Now Jack's the man whose old boots were sold recently for £10,000. Well, Jack, there's an important football match tonight. I believe ...

- Holly: Max?
- Max: Hi, Holly.
- Holly: Are you ready to go to the party?
- Max: No, I don't know what to wear. I've got so few nice clothes.
- Holly: Well, what about your blue shirt?
- Max: It isn't smart enough. And it's too small for me.
- Holly: What?
- Max: I think I've grown.
- Holly: Don't be so silly. You're twenty-three. You haven't grown, you're just too fat.
- Max: You say such unkind things to me. You don't understand because you're so lucky.
- Holly: What do you mean?
- Max: You lose weight so easily.
- Holly: You talk such nonsense! I'm slim because I walk everywhere. Your problem is that you don't take enough exercise.
- Max: But I have so little time. You don't know what my job's like. I'm so busy that I can't think about keeping fit.
- Holly: But you could walk to work.
- Max: It's too far to walk.
- Holly: You're such a lazy person! You never walk anywhere.
- Max: I walk around in my lunch break.
- Holly: But you just look in the shop windows. You never walk quickly enough. Anyway, if you really want to get fit, you could join a gym, like me.
- Max: They cost such a lot of money! I don't have enough money for gym membership.
- Holly: My gym isn't too expensive.
- Max: I'm sure it is.
- Holly: Well you can start by thinking about what you eat. I know you eat the wrong food. You have too much ice cream and too many burgers. And you don't eat enough fruit.
- Max: I sometimes have a salad with my burger, but it costs extra.
- Holly: You make so many excuses. How can anyone help you!

Recording 29

- Nancy: Did you watch TV last night?
- Steve: No, I was out. Was there anything good on?
- Nancy: Well there's this new cartoon series, it's very funny.
- Steve: Yeah?

Nancy: It's called Orville. What happened last night. Well, there was this man, Orville, OK, and he had a beautiful girlfriend, Claudia, who was a model and she loved him, but he was extremely jealous. And, um, Claudia went to an evening class to learn Greek. (Yeah.) Well, he asked Claudia about the evening class, but he didn't believe her so he followed her to see where she went. He put on a false beard as he didn't want her to recognise him. (OK.) Anyway, when she arrived at the college for her class, there was another young man, um Damian, in the entrance hall.

Steve: And why was Damian there?

Nancy: Because he was waiting for his girlfriend, a teacher, I think.

Steve: Oh.

Nancy: But Claudia knew Damian because of her job. He was a fashion photographer. Damian said "Hi!" and they began talking, so Orville started shouting at him. He thought Claudia was lying about the Greek lessons and that she had a date with Damian. (Mm) Orville was making a terrible noise so the college receptionist called the police. And the police came and Orville didn't know what to do. He'd forgotten that he was still wearing the false beard.

Steve: Oh, right.

Nancy: He said to Claudia, 'Tell them who I am!' She said nothing since she didn't recognise him.

Steve: Really?

Nancy: Yes, because of the beard. Well, it was a very big beard. No-one helped him so he was taken to the police station. It was so funny.

Steve: But why was it funny?

Nancy: Because of the beard and Orville's face and, oh, I don't know. Watch it next week and see.

Steve: OK, well, perhaps.

Mr Smart: 377203.

Selina: Hallo, Mr Smart?

Mr Smart: Yes.

Selina: Hi, I'm Selina and I'm phoning from Bestways Tours Holiday Company.

Mr Smart: Yes?

Selina: I believe you've just returned from a holiday with our company.

Mr Smart: Yes.

Selina: We always phone our customers when they return home. May I take a few minutes of your time to ask you how it was?

Mr Smart: Oh, OK, if it doesn't take too long.

Selina: Thank you. Well, first, did you enjoy your holiday?

Mr Smart: Well, I enjoyed most of the holiday, but I didn't enjoy the first night.

Selina: Oh, why was that?

Mr Smart: Because of the noise. Although I asked for a quiet hotel, your company put me in the Concordia, on the main road along the beach. My wife and I both work very hard and we need to relax when we're on holiday. The first night, we couldn't sleep until the clubs and restaurants closed. That was four o'clock in the morning!

Selina: Oh, dear. I hope our local staff were able to help you.

Mr Smart: Not at first. I phoned your local office in the morning, but unfortunately both the manager and his assistant were out.

Selina: I'm sure the manager phoned you as soon as he could.

Mr Smart: Although I left several messages, he didn't phone me back until the second day. I couldn't change my hotel until then.

Selina: But was the second hotel all right?

Mr Smart: Oh, yes, he offered us either the San Francisco or the Cristina and we moved to the San Francisco after I spoke to him, and that was lovely. Well, the hotel was excellent but the food was boring. Anyway, we didn't mind that very much, we ate out most nights. In spite of the bad start, we had a good holiday.

Selina: I'm so pleased. Well, I'm going to tell our bookings manager about your problems as soon as she comes into the office. I think someone made a mistake with your hotel reservation.

Mr Smart: Thank you. Will you phone me when you find out what went wrong? I'd really like to know.

Selina: Yes, of course, I understand. I'll either phone or email you.

Mr Smart: Good, thank you.

Selina: My pleasure. Goodbye.

Mr Smart: Goodbye.

There are lots of rules in my school too. We have to be at school by eight and we have to stay there until four. We're not allowed to go to town at lunchtime. We have to do homework every night and we mustn't give it in late. That's probably a good rule because it makes us do it! Other rules are that we have to be polite and we mustn't run in the corridors. We have to wear school uniform but I hate that because the uniform is really old-fashioned. I think there are too many rules in my school.

Sample answer:

Bunbury is on the coast. There are lots of factories in the east and south of it, but most people live on the north side of the town, near the beaches. The sports centre is in that part of the town too. It's in a park. My school is behind the sports centre, and I often walk through the park on my way home. Sometimes I play football there.

The town centre has also got a lot of shops and a big art gallery. We can go to them when you visit. There's a good cinema opposite the gallery, too.
